FOREWORD BY ROTHMANS OF PALL MALL

We at Rothmans of Pall Mall have been delighted with the reception that has been given to the previous editions of the Rothmans Football Yearbook and we are proud to present this, the fourth edition.

This season's Yearbook contains over 1,000 pages, and once again the fascinating Club section, the heart of the book, is backed up by complete coverage of World, European, and domestic competitions of the 1972-73 season.

Scottish Football has been given special pride of place this year, with complete records of their League and Cup Competitions since World War II, and other new features include diagrams of the best goals, a larger European section, and special biographies of past British stars.

We hope that the Yearbook will settle a few arguments and will once again give hours of enjoyable reading to football fans throughout the world.

INTRODUCTION

We, the compilers of the Rothmans Football Yearbook 1973-74, have been gratified to note the unprecedented popularity of the previous edition and the importance it has achieved. However, we felt obliged to continue with our policy of introducing new features in every edition, and this year we have incorporated several interesting items. We are publishing diagrams of eight excellent goals scored during the season, pen pictures of 100 all-time greats, and we have paid special attention to the forth-coming World Cup Finals. We have enlarged our Scottish, statistical, and European sections, and our daily Diary deals in greater detail with the events of the past season. To improve the lay-out, title pages introduce each section, making it easier for the reader to find the relevant information.

Once again, it is our pleasant duty to acknowledge the invaluable assistance received from various organisations, club secretaries and officials. We are especially grateful to Mr Bob Baldwin of the Football League, Mr Mike McNamara of the Football Association, and Mr Tom Maule of the Scottish League, whose ready help in all matters has been vitally important in presenting this Yearbook. We are also indebted to our colleagues, whose specialised expertise has been fully utilised. We would also like to record our appreciation of the 'behind the scenes' efforts of Miss Ann Meader of the Bagenal Harvey Organisation.

'Rothmans' has become a byword of reliability in football circles in a comparatively short space of time – we do hope this latest edition will further enhance its reputation.

Golden Boots Award

The fourth year of the Rothmans Golden Boots Award produced another interesting selection from the panel on the best team plus a substitute in Great Britain during the 1972–73 season.

It was left to the discretion of the voters what actual formation their team took either in a 4-3-3 or 4-2-4 formation.

No player received the full 26 votes, but Pat Jennings, who had earlier been the choice of the Football Writers Association was only one short of the maximum.

Here is the full panel who chose the team:
Albert Barham (Guardian), Peter Batt (Sun), Frank Butler (News of the World), David Coleman (BBC TV), Brian Glanville (Sunday Times), Geoffrey Green (The Times), Desmond Hackett (Daily Express), Jimmy Hill (BBC TV), Alan Hoby (Sunday Express), Alan Hughes (Goal), Brian James (Sunday Times), Ken Jones (Sunday Mirror), Bernard Joy (Evening Standard), Frank McGhee (Daily Mirror), Tony Pawson (Observer), David Miller (Sunday Telegraph), Jeff Powell (Daily Mail), Victor Railton (Evening News), Jack Rollin (freelance), Donald Saunders (Daily Telegraph), Maurice Smith (People), Leslie Vernon (Rothmans Football Yearbook), Alex Cameron (Daily Record), George Aitken (Glasgow Evening Citizen), John McKenzie (Scottish Daily Express), and Tommy Gallacher (Dundee Courier).

Players who have appeared in all the four Golden Boots Awards since 1970 have been: Moore and Bremner. The three previous teams were:

1971—Gordon Banks; Chris Lawler, Terry Cooper, Billy Bremner, Frank McLintock, Bobby Moore, George Best, Martin Chivers, Ron Davies, Francis Lee, Martin Peters.
1972—Gordon Banks; Paul Madeley, Roy McFarland, Bobby Moore, Terry Cooper, Billy Bremner, Johnny Giles, Jimmy Johnstone, Martin Chivers, Francis Lee, Eddie Gray. Substitute: Peter Simpson.

In addition the panel was asked to nominate their Young Players of the Year. John Richards was selected, receiving ten votes.

Other players who received votes in the Golden Boots Awards: Colin Bell (8), Mike England (8), Colin Todd (6), Peter Storey (6), Martin Chivers (6), Trevor Brooking (4), Martin Peters (4), Kevin Hector (3), Bryan Robson (3), George Armstrong (2), John Richards (2), Eddie Gray (2), Colin Stein (2), Kevin Keegan (2), Peter Osgood (2); the following players each received one vote: Leighton James, Peter Cormack, David Nish, Malcolm Macdonald, Norman Hunter, Peter Shilton, George Connelly, Willie Donachie, Archie Gemmill, Derek Dougan, Peter Rodrigues, Bob McNab, Jimmy Johnstone, Alan Gilzean, Rodney Marsh, John Radford, Mike Summerbee, Dave Watson, John Hollins, and Mike Horswill. Peter Storey (4) was the runner-up in the substitute section.

Additional votes for the Young Player of the Year: Roger Davies (5), Kevin Beattie, Derek Johnstone (3 each), Trevor Whymark (2), and Phil Thompson, Danny McGrain, Dennis Mortimer (1 each).

ROTHMANS
GOLDEN BOOTS AWARD

Pat Jennings (Tottenham Hotspur and Northern Ireland)
In the 1972–73 season Pat Jennings succeeded Gordon Banks not only in the Golden Boots team, but also as Footballer of the Year. And, again like Banks, he became referred to increasingly as 'the world's best goalkeeper'. That he would probably have achieved the same status without Banks' tragic accident indicates the level of performance he continually attained. A League Cup winners' medal was his only playing reward, but in a season of sensational saves, his two penalty stops against Liverpool at Anfield will always stand out.

At six foot, almost thirteen stone, and with basket-like hands, he dominates his penalty area in the air. Sharp reflexes and boundless courage ensure that he is rarely found wanting when the shots come in low. To his defensive qualities, he adds excellent distribution; his long-range kicking and mighty throws play an important part in initiating Spurs' attacks.

Paul Madeley (Leeds United and England)
There can be no greater tribute to Paul Madeley's versatility than his retention of the right-back position although circumstances compelled him to play much of his season in the centre of the defence. As so often in the past, Leeds looked to Madeley to solve a problem – this time to replace Jack Charlton – and as always he measured up to the task. To such effect, in fact, that he became England's centre-half for the Scottish centenary international. On a night when frozen conditions destroyed other big defenders, his composed play was rarely disturbed.

Amidst the disappointment of the F.A. Cup final, he continually caught the eye, particularly when carrying the ball irresistably forward and displaying an array of gifts that seem so wasted when he is totally confined to defence.

Roy McFarland (Derby County and England)
For Roy McFarland, it was a season in which he consolidated his position as the most complete centre-half in England. His international experience proved central to Derby County's first run in European competition, and it was no coincidence that he was missing on the night that Juventus ended Derby's hopes of reaching the European Cup final.

By lending his skills to the offensive, and nodding in vital goals, he often masks the magnitude of his defensive play. Always positive, always wanting to meet the ball, he possesses the determination to win challenges and the perception to finish the job with intelligent clearances. He becomes the first centre-half to retain the Golden Boots award for a second year.

Bobby Moore (West Ham United and England)
There was no trophy to West Ham's name at the end of the season, but the League position was encouragingly high and gates were up. Much of the credit for that must go to Bobby Moore. An ever-present in the League for the first time in his long career, he now gave full rein to all his natural talents. Not confined to being the last man in defence, he drove forward at every opportunity to select and strike long passes at the underbelly of opposing defences.

At Hampden Park in February, he became the third man to make 100 appearances for England, and his international form has shown none of the decline of others of his generation. His anticipation of danger, his ruthless covering and the total talent in his two feet still flow like the best wine, improving with age.

Emlyn Hughes (Liverpool and England)
With Terry Cooper not fully fit from his broken leg, Emlyn Hughes has established himself as England's left-back, and takes the Golden Boots award that has been Cooper's since its inception. When he bought Hughes from Blackpool in 1967, Bill Shankly took one of the first steps towards rebuilding his great side of the mid-sixties. Liverpool's Championship and UEFA Cup honours consummated these plans and Hughes, at full-back, midfield, or in the centre of the defence, epitomised their success.

A player of immense energy and unquenchable enthusiasm, he always looks to drive forward. His control is excellent, but it is his sheer power which propels him through knots of defenders and often at goal. At left-back, a preference for his right side sometimes sells him short, particularly when crossing the ball, but in defence he is totally resolute. And that boundless zeal carries him out of his own penalty area and menacingly into the opposition half.

Billy Bremner (Leeds United and Scotland)
With Bobby Moore, Billy Bremner is the only player to retain his Golden Boots award for a fourth season, after a year of much personal and team frustration. A sensational defeat at Wembley, third in the League, Leeds under Bremner's leadership missed out again – and on top of that, suspension kept him out of the Cup-Winners' Cup final. But failure is relative, and Bremner enjoyed another fine season in which his competitive leadership urged Leeds to the brink of treble success. For the third time a Bremner goal won a Cup semi-final – a characteristic moment when he spotted the possibilities long before the Wolves defenders and his own team-mates. Controversial and always abrasive, his razor edge remains.

Alan Ball (Arsenal and England)
During Arsenal's persistent attempts to deprive Liverpool of the Championship and to reach Wembley for the third successive year, Alan Ball enjoyed a magnificent season. Overcoming the initial problems of fitting in after his move from Everton, he began to fit the side around him, dictating the pattern of the play and exhorting his team-mates to even greater efforts.

Criticised in some quarters for a weakness in finishing ability, he managed several significant goals, particularly from the penalty spot. In this respect, his response to the pressures of important moments proved exceptional; scoring crucial penalties against championship rivals Leeds, Ipswich, and Liverpool, and again in the 6th round F.A. Cup replay against Chelsea. His love of the big occasion has also been reflected by his form in an England jersey, and he remains in the forefront of Sir Alf Ramsey's plans.

Johnny Giles (Leeds United and The Republic of Ireland)
As Leeds continued to battle for every honour within reach, Johnny Giles masterminded each challenge from the middle of the field. His clinical passing over any distance and his patient approach work prised open First Division and European defences alike. An appearance in his fifth Wembley final, equalling the pre-war record of Joe Hulme, slightly eased the disappointment of the F.A. Cup.

He maintains his rare gift of assessing what is happening around him, even under the most vigorous pressure. Moreover, he totally appreciates the needs of his colleagues, dropping passes at them so precisely that the ball requires the minimum of controlling. His selection for the Common Market match, the Three v the Six, reflected his esteem in the game, and he took the opportunity to show the whole of Europe the full range of his diverse talents.

Peter Lorimer (Leeds United and Scotland)
The sledgehammer power of his right foot has made Peter Lorimer one of the most exhilarating of today's players. His velocity, coupled with a willingness to blast at goal from unconventional positions, presents a direct threat virtually wherever he receives the ball in the opposition's half. But his power has other dimensions; his long, deep crosses are used to set up chances beyond the far post, while from defensive positions he can strike huge passes, particularly down the right touchline, that not only relieve pressure but can put Jones or Clarke directly in at goal. A forceful runner with plenty of skill to make space for his shooting ability, he is arguably the best volleyer in the game.

One of several Scots developed at Leeds by Don Revie in the mid-sixties, he has established a place in the national side, though a sending-off against Denmark in November was a set-back.

Mick Channon (Southampton and England)

Successor to Martin Chivers at Southampton, Mick Channon now replaces his former team-mate in the Golden Boots side, after a season in which he really came of age. At the Dell, he had more responsibility thrust upon him by the eclipse of Ron Davies, for so long a staunch ally. He rose to the challenge. For England, his promising debut against Yugoslavia was followed by a mesmerising performance against Scotland at Hampden Park.

For many he is the complete attacker. Fast, with the capacity to take on and beat defenders, he has a sharp eye for goal and the ability to convert chances with both feet and in the air. Off the ball he is a willing worker, prepared to make unselfish decoy runs to create openings for colleagues.

Allan Clarke (Leeds United and England)

Allan Clarke's deadliness in front of goal has never been in doubt; he puts chances away with the cool finality of a hired gun. More open to question has been his work-rate and general contribution to team-play – until last season. This improvement, highlighted by a twenty-minute hat-trick of converted half-chances against Norwich in the F.A. Cup brought him back into the international side, and he responded with two goals against Scotland.

Slight in build but beautifully balanced, he has the priceless gift of sensing where the chances will fall and he accepts the responsibility of putting the ball in the net. Injuries have robbed him of several England caps; but the absence of the player of the present generation of strikers, with the best international scoring record has meant England's loss has been the greater. Clarke becomes the seventh of the present Leeds squad to win a Golden Boots award.

Colin Todd (Derby County and England)

Colin Todd enjoyed an immaculate season at the heart of the Derby defence alongside Roy McFarland, although he knew that however well he played England honours would not come his way because of the two-year ban imposed for refusing to tour last May with the Under-23 team.

Nevertheless there was no sign of the Derby centre-back showing any lack of ambition. A supreme reader of the game, he covers faultlessly and is able to match any attacker for speed. Not only is he a solid tackler, timing his challenges perfectly so that all his weight goes in behind the ball, but he possesses enough close skill and constructive ability to play in midfield. An England choice, too, at full-back, he has all the versatility required of a substitute.

John Richards (Wolverhampton Wanderers and England)

In only his second full season, John Richards developed into one of the goalscoring forces in the First Division. Only 5ft 9in and around 11 stone, he is the sharp end of the lethal strike force of Dougan and Richards. His exceptional pace has enabled him to profit from Dougan's wise deflections, and many of his 33 goals last year came from this source. He can corkscrew in the penalty area to get in scoring shots where others would be content to lay the ball back away from the goal.

After Under-23 and Football League honours, he was called up for his first cap against Northern Ireland in the Home International Championship. He succeeds his Under-23 colleague Kevin Keegan as the most promising newcomer and takes the Golden Boots award above the claims of a squad of bright youngsters including Trevor Whymark and Kevin Beattie (Ipswich), Phil Thompson (Liverpool), and the Scot Derek Johnstone (Rangers).

The Review of the Season

by Brian James

Old footballers, unlike old soldiers, do not simply fade away, for the game has little affection for ageing skills. Jewelled careers are often ended with an almost callous abruptness, for retirement and decline are facts of the sporting life, to be accepted without question. Thus the final days of the 1972–73 season wore a sad face, as enough definitive names from the past decade slithered from the forefront into obscurity or the more shadowy corners of the Football League to give some real meaning to the cliches 'An end of an era', or 'We'll never see their like again'.

Unquestionably the most revered victim to the march of time was Bobby Charlton, who sadly played his final League match at Stamford Bridge on the same afternoon as brother Jack, his hamstring torn, pulled off a Leeds United shirt for the last time. Manchester United also decided to turn their backs on Denis Law, who for years had matched Charlton's grace with electric athleticism, and, if one dare predict the unpredictable, George Best.

Gordon Banks had continued to defy the years, but it was left to tragic circumstance to remove him from the arena, alas almost certainly for all time. Others, rather than making their last exit, moved from the centre of the stage to the wings. The P. Thompson more frequently seen on the Liverpool team sheet was the youthful Phil, not Peter, who unlike his evergreen colleague Ian Callaghan could no longer command a place. Ron Davies departed from Southampton for Second Division Portsmouth. Frank McLintock, though retaining his Division One status with Queens Park Rangers, will find playing at Loftus Road almost repertory after the Palladium of Highbury.

More often than most years, relegation deprived the top-flight of players who had pulled in the crowds. The demise of Crystal Palace means that Don Rogers starts next season as he started the last – a Second Division player. Charlie Cooke, like Rogers, an exhilarating individualist on his day, went with him. West Bromwich Albion sank with all hands, including the combative young Scot Asa Hartford and his midfield colleague the gifted Len Cantello.

In all a sombre prospect. Or is it? Joe Mercer, often the romantic himself, offers a note of perspective: 'It's inevitable that we lose these characters. But we lost the Dixie Deans, the 'Pongo' Warings, and even Pele, and we have survived. You can only be the best in your day. It's pleasing that they contributed, but the great thing is that the Charltons, and Gordon Banks are, I'm sure, all staying in the game. It's people like Danny Blanchflower who are the sad losses. These types, like your Alex James, your Di Stefano, your Joe Boszic, your Stan Cullis – all their own men. But we lost them and survived, and we shall again.'

Tommy Docherty, the manager apparently most deprived by the farewells, shares Mercer's optimism: 'Of course it's sad. It's always sad when great players give up. But it has to happen. We've been hit by the loss of Bobby and Denis and, for different reasons, George. We hope to be able to replace Bobby on the field though it will be harder to replace him as an overall influence to the club. We've got young Trevor Anderson, who did so well for Northern Ireland in the Home Internationals. He's a tremendous prospect. And there's another young lad that I promise you'll be hearing a lot about in the future – Gerry Daly. So I'm not at all depressed about the position at Manchester United. And look elsewhere. There's Mike Channon. What a fabulous player he is. John Richards, at Wolves, is another. There's Willie Carr and young Daley at Wolves, they're fine young players. Look at Ipswich, they've got Kevin Beattie and Trevor Whymark, David Johnson and the Irishman Bryan Hamilton. Willie Donachie is another. There's Steve Perryman at Spurs. He's still a youngster. Arsenal have some wonderful young players waiting to break into the side. Chelsea, they introduced a couple towards the end of the season – Britton and Brolly. There's Martin Dobson too at Burnley.

'Nobody in football, like in any other walk of life, is indispensable. It's sad when we lose great players, but the game always brings up somebody new. Look at Pele. When I was over in Brazil with Scotland last summer, I saw some tremendous youngsters. Great skills. Pele was unique but some of these young Brazilians – they'll be players in their own right.'

Charlton, Law, and Banks are all products of a generation of footballers born before the abolition of the maximum wage. The affluence of the new breed is, in Docherty's opinion, another weapon to the perpetuation of talent.

'The money in the game is a great incentive. The young players of today have realised that the longer they stay in football the more money they will make. So, I think, they tend to look after themselves much better than in the past. That can only be to the future good of the game.'

The valetes apart, the F.A. Cup Final ensured that the 1972–73 season will be well-remembered. Sunderland, who at Christmas were relegation candidates, became transformed under new manager Bob Stokoe, and reached Wembley after eliminating First Division favourites Manchester City and Arsenal. Every logical argument stated that the fun had to stop in the face of the Leeds United machine, but in the face of this particular competition logic continually flees. Ian Porterfield's goal, with a rare shot from his 'wrong' but right foot, and Jim Montgomery's acrobatic rebuffal of Peter Lorimer's opportunity to restore some sanity to the occasion, not only provided the first Second Division Cup win since 1931. They restored belief and pride into an area starved not only of football success, where the queues that straggled around Roker Park in the golden years of Gurney and Carter were now more often seen at the Department of Employment.

Not even the disorder and disgrace of the League match against Queens Park Rangers at Roker four days after Wembley, when referee Reeves led the players from the field because of crowd behaviour, will dim that glow. But the result – a 3-0 win for promoted Rangers – was more than enough to show that promotion for Sunderland in 1974 is by no means the foregone conclusion predicted by so many in the euphoria of the final.

That Leeds should be the losers on such a day is symptomatic of an era that began nine seasons ago when Don Revie pulled his team into the First Division. This was so much a typical Leeds season – beaten at Wembley, third in the League, losing finalists in the European Cup-Winners' Cup. To be there when the honours are decided would be success enough in its own right, but when Leeds have built a career on near misses their record deserves careful consideration.

In those nine seasons in the very best company, they have reached nine major finals. On four occasions Billy Bremner has stepped forward to collect a trophy – two Fairs Cups, the League Cup and the F.A. Cup. On the debit side – if coming second can be labelled so – are three F.A. Cup failures at Wembley (plus two losing semi-finals), a Fairs Cup loss and the Cup-Winners' Cup defeat (plus two more losing European semi-finals). Their League record is even more illuminating. Winners in 1969, they have been runners up five times and fourth twice, in addition to the third place of 1973. Over that period, 378 First Division matches have brought Leeds 213 wins and 522 points; a mere 18 extra points at the right moments and they would have been victorious on six occasions.

Comments on the effects of too much competition, especially in the last hectic month, flow easily from the pen. The bewildering pile-up in April 1970 that thwarted a treble on all counts, the fixture at Wolverhampton on a Monday night in May 1972, on which the double depended, played 48 hours after the Cup Final, the injuries and suspensions which culminated in the 1973 Cup-Winners' Cup Final being played without the core of the team – Bremner, Giles, Clarke and Gray.

But how much is the animosity and controversy that has surrounded Revie's side at the outset a factor to be considered? The legacy is now of several years standing but Leeds continue to be the most criticised as well as the most consistent English team. Significantly, charges arise from within the game. Bobby Moore spoke out against the 'professionalism' of Leeds in a newspaper column; Bill McGarry added his voice to the cause, again through newsprint, during Cup Final week; Brian Clough is a patent critic of the Leeds genre. Even Bob Stokoe, surely unexperienced in the banter and propaganda that surrounds an important occasion, announced that Leeds had pulled tricks at Wembley in obtaining the better end for their supporters and the more favoured dressing-room. Unjust comment as it turned out, and if ever there was a case of a team's reputation doing its talking it was this.

In detail, the Yorkshire side are suspected of putting pressure on referees, by questioning decisions and over-acting, that they feign injuries to disrupt the play. Guilty or not, they have made enemies in the game. One is tempted to suggest that this has gone against them over the seasons; that opponents have set their hearts on beating Leeds United; that those 18 lost League points might have been gathered, against a back-ground of less ill-feeling. It can be no coincidence that Liverpool – who play no more attractively, who have arguably fewer stars and who are no innocents – were acclaimed in their League triumph. Clough's comment that 'if my side couldn't win, I'd want Shanks and Liverpool to have the title' merely echoed the thoughts of others.

So it was to Liverpool that Leeds bowed at the end of a season that began in a flurry of promises before a ball was ever kicked. The vows were bracketed together under the heading of 'total football', and Arsenal and Manchester City led the band who decreed that this would lead to attacking, adventurous play. Excellent August public relations no doubt, but at the end of the day the total number of First Division goals scored remained, remarkably, the same, 1,160, as in 1971–72. Moreover, when the attendances were aggregated to discover a loss of three million to League football as a whole, the lack of stimulating football was one of several reasons put forward to explain the decline. Others included the familiar chestnuts of television, hooliganism on the terraces, and the lack of attractive amenities on the grounds, and there seemed validity in varying degrees on all points. Some weekends, it was possible to see the goals from five First Division matches without leaving the fireside; in certain rounds of the F.A. Cup, highlights of six ties were broadcast by B.B.C. and Independent networks. Against the latter point West Ham took issue with the F.A. in an attempt to reduce the figure to one per channel. Queens Park Rangers, who took just £1,500 from the previous season's share-out, spoke for many when they claimed that the fees paid by the television networks should be raised to cover the cost of the armchair fans if televised football is to continue on the same basis.

With more police control and a greater awareness of the problems by the clubs, hooliganism existed more often in the minds of headline-seeking sports editors than on the terraces. One paper came up with the supposedly shocking figure of 3,000 arrests at First Division matches (though they had to make up the number by including Second Division Aston Villa's crowd problems), neglecting to provide the comparison figure that over 16 million fans attended these games. – that is just three arrests in a crowd of 16,000.

At Anfield, though, neither shortage of numbers nor the behaviour of the faithful proved a problem. Leading from the front, Liverpool, unlike the Leeds of two years ago, withstood a persistent and harrying chase from Arsenal. From the side that had stood one point adrift from Derby County in May 1972, Bill Shankly made one perceptive change. He signed Peter Cormack, a fluent, creative midfield player, from Nottingham Forest, and in doing so increased the depth of Liverpool's play. The ebullient Kevin Keegan buzzed wasp-like in front of goal, the new hero. Smith, Lawler, and Callaghan of the old guard provided the solidity, the reliability. But the triumph was Shankly's; perhaps the most lovable bigot of all time, his faith remained blind and totally inspiring.

Arsenal's adherence to 'total football' brought them some early success, but more often uneasiness which culminated in a 5-0 thrashing at Derby in November. The immediate re-appraisal brought a return to basics and to consistency; with Ball and Radford at their very best, some honour seemed certain until Sunderland crossed their path. Ipswich, too, provided a threat. Bobby Robson knitted a team of great flexibility and balance. Moreover, potential abounds; the Ipswich youth squad which last year produced Kevin Beattie, an Under-23 international in his first season, won the F.A. Youth Cup. Derby County succumbed to the attractions of their European adventure and began their defence of the title in listless form; the subsequent recapture of their best came too late to threaten the leaders. They did, though, top one league; they paid the highest fee – £225,000 to Leicester for David Nish – in a year which saw a massive £6 million change hands among the clubs.

Success, apparently bears little relevance to the appeal of Manchester United. Despite a year of wretched form and unwholesome boardroom politics, more than one million fans made the pilgrimage to Old Trafford. The unconvincing early form, aggravated by the wilful behaviour of George Best and unhalted by the introduction of expensive signings Wyn Davies and Ted Macdougall, came to a head with a 5-0 annihilation at Crystal Palace. The sacking of Frank O'Farrell was the immediate consequence and Tommy Docherty left the Scottish World Cup squad to replace him.

O'Farrell, transparently honest, had largely been undone by the Best affair in which he was not permitted full managerial control, and Best's tolerated aberrations had undermined his team. United came out of the affair with less than credit, though Docherty imported Scottish internationals in sufficient quantities to keep them in the First Division.

Manchester's managerial merry-go-round was not confined to Old Trafford. Malcolm Allison, after nine months without Joe Mercer, was tempted away from Maine Road by a reputed £13,000 per year offer from Crystal Palace. For Palace, spenders of over £600,000 during the season, it was the last cheque in their attempt to buy the renewal of their First Division ticket. It failed, and Allison moved almost directly into the Second Division, leaving behind him an unhappy Rodney Marsh, bereft of his mentor.

Crystal Palace plunged downwards with West Bromwich Albion after Norwich

City, with the noose tightening and the trap door open, had somehow wriggled clear. In an amazing debut season in Division One, they were once sixth and then from November 18th to April 14th did not win a League match. When it really mattered, they beat Albion and, through Stringer's injury-time winner, Palace, to stay up. In the midst of their spell of non-production they reached Wembley and the League Cup final, only to lose to Tottenham Hotspur, whose poetic but flickering talents seem more suited to Cup football, in a match of outstanding drabness.

Just as Crystal Palace replaced Queens Park Rangers in 1969, so they are replaced themselves by Rangers who, with Burnley, ran away with the Second Division. From mid-season they ploughed on inexorably, dogged at first by Aston Villa and then clear – the title going to Burnley who once again have the opportunity to test their meagre resources and unending supply of talented youngsters against the demands of the top flight.

After Liverpool and Burnley, Lancashire also provided the winners in Divisions Three and Four – Bolton Wanderers and Southport – both revitalised by England full-backs Jimmy Armfield and Jimmy Meadows. Alongside the re-establishment of the old (the oldest League club of all, Notts County, go up with Bolton) the two youngest League clubs, Hereford United, in their first season, and Cambridge United, gained an early taste of promotion; a flavour sampled by Aldershot for the first time in their 46-year history.

If the blackest of the season's statistics concerned attendances, discipline on the field came close behind. Ninety-nine players were sent off in League, League Cup and F.A. Cup matches; the previous record was 51, four seasons earlier. In addition, more than 2,000 bookings were recorded. Much of the punishment came as a direct result of a continuation of the referee's charter of tougher control. The new system of disciplining offenders by the totalling of points for bookings and automatic suspension introduced a welcome element of consistency into punishing the guilty. Its main failing concerns the appeals procedure; an appeal against a caution automatically stays the execution of the suspension, and clubs and players have consistently used the procedure to keep the defendant available for vital matches. Irritating and time consuming it may be for all the parties involved, but an appeal procedure is essential to justice and any attempt to prevent this aspect of off-the-field gamesmanship must not threaten the status of the genuine plea.

Violence on the field as well as off continued, then, to disturb. Inevitably Value Added Tax has increased admission prices to pose another threat to attendances; the extra million pounds from the Pools Promoters Association can only partially support any further losses. These, together with the need to stimulate attractive play and the problem of how much of it to televise, are the crucial issues the administrators carry with them into 1973–74.

For the managers there remains the question of how they are going to replace a mini-generation of fading stars. They are confident that they will succeed. That in itself is a promising sign for the future.

It was April 28 1973 when the Charlton brothers, Bobby and Jackie, bade farewell to the clubs they had served all their careers as Football League players.

For Bobby the occasion was at Stamford Bridge, a strangely shaped ground during the 1972-73 season, but one where the applause from the temporarily three-sided stadium was unanimously directed at him. He needed just two goals to bring his total to 200 in League games, but did not score. His 606th League match in Manchester United's colours passed uneventfully, the crowd's homage to him lifting it above mediocre level. But if the ending was far from a story book one, the chapter and verse had been sufficient to put him in the forefront of the truly outstanding footballers of his and any other era.

Bobby was born in Ashington and the family association with the Milburns was enough to give him a footballing background. When he was taken to a League club it was to Old Trafford as a youngster in 1953. He made his debut against Charlton Athletic at centre-forward in October 1956 and scored twice. He was one of only a handful of United players to survive the Munich air tragedy in 1958 and went on to become Footballer of the Year in 1966 and Europe's top ace the following year. In 1970 he was awarded the OBE. He played a leading part in England's World Cup triumph in 1966 and throughout his career brought considerable credit to his profession.

Off the field he was quiet and shrewd; on it he was quick, a fine mover with the ball, and could finish with a tremendous shot. Above all he had flair. For England he set up a new record of 106 international appearances and 49 goals.

While Bobby played in the forward line during his career, brother Jackie was for the most part a stalwart in defence. His footballing journey took him first to Leeds. He made his League debut against Doncaster Rovers in April 1953, and played his last game at Southampton.

For the giraffe-like Jackie the exit was even more odd. He walked off in the second half after damaging the hamstring he had pulled in the F.A. Cup semi-final against Wolverhampton Wanderers. In fact a week before the final itself it had seemed he might even play at Wembley—the scene of some of his greatest moments for club and country.

Jackie, vociferous but a charitable soul for all that, was as ungainly as brother Bobby was elegant on the field, but fewer centre-halves have presented a more formidable prospect to opposing attacks. He had to wait until quite late in his career for his best years. In fact during his earlier days at Elland Road he was at odds with Don Revie and almost left them. He had a few games at centre-forward, but by the time the 1960s arrived he was established at centre-half. He followed Bobby into the Footballer of the Year rating in 1967, having been in the centre of England's defence in the World Cup the year before.

In all, Jackie played in 35 internationals for England, and when he made his Football League farewell in Leeds colours he had played 629 League games for the club.

Before the season ended, both players were in demand as managers. Bobby took over the reins at Preston and Jackie made a similar move to Middlesbrough. And both appear regularly on the respective TV channels as experts; Bobby for BBC and Jackie with the ITA.

But whether playing, managing, or talking about the game, the Charltons have had much to offer and the quality of what they have given to the game has ensured that they will be remembered far away from Ashington, Manchester, and Leeds, not to mention Preston and Middlesbrough.

Perhaps I should fight back. I am a fighter, but the blow this time has flattened me. Deep down I know I've done a good job for Colchester. We see two matches on Saturdays, plus lunch-time previews, three on Sundays, and then some in mid-week. It's too much. Little wonder the fans don't want to go out to watch games—especially those outside the First Division. And what do clubs like ours get out of it? About £3,000 to £4,000 a year. What's that? We get nothing from the big boys. We have been conned. Then people wonder why we sell players or cannot buy new ones. Bad players are going for £80,000 these days. Gordon Jago takes up the theme of TV coverage of football. 'The BBC match fee is £800 and Rangers collected £1,556 from last season's TV pool. It's a ridiculously small amount of money bearing in mind football's high entertainment rating. If TV wants to saturate us with football, then they must pay heavily to make up the money lost at the turnstiles. 'I believe there are three main reasons why gates are down by about 600,000 this season.' Too much football: 'I am sure we are being completely saturated by the number of competitions and matches.' Too much television: 'I don't think there is any doubt that there is over-exposure on the television screen.' Hooliganism: 'There is no doubt there is an urgent need to investigate the madness that takes place on the terraces.' Sir Andrew is also concerned about the standard of football and its possible effect on gates. 'I am firmly convinced soccer is not as entertaining as it used to be. The time is certainly ripe to have a long look at the state of the game.'

25 The two-year ban from international football on Alan Hudson and Colin Todd is confirmed by the FA. Ajax beat Independiente 3-0 in a sporting match and take the World Club Championship trophy on a 4-1 aggregate with goals by sub. Johnny Rep (2) and Johan Neeskens.

29 Top coaches slate Sir Alf's squad. Malcolm Allison: 'Ramsey lives in his own football world. He picked Manchester C. players who are completely off form.' Clough: 'If Ramsey knows now what his squad for Munich is going to be, the man's either crackers or a genius' . . . Bobby Ferguson and Trevor Brooking end their contract disputes with West Ham after an Independent Tribunal decision that came down on the players' side . . . C. The 'trial' of Ernie Machin, the Coventry wing-half, conducted by the Football Association Disciplinary Committee, was 'unfair and against the rules of natural justice', a High Court judge ruled yesterday. Mr. Justice Bristow granted Machin, 28, a declaration that the committee's decision, fining and suspending him for a foul, was void. Machin will now have the £50 he has already paid for his fine, and £43 costs, refunded. 'It would be hard to find a clearer example of a committee failing to conduct a hearing in accordance with the rules of natural justice', said the judge, ruling that Machin was convicted of something he had never been charged with and of something for which his defence had never been heard. It is the first time a civil court has upset a decision by the FA Disciplinary Committee, and it is likely to have wide repercussions in the soccer world.

Bernard Shaw says later that an approach had been made to him to 'sell' the match. The FA said today: 'Statements by players furnished by the Sunday People and statements obtained by the Football Association relating to allegations of bribery in connection with the match Wolverhampton v Leeds played on March 8, 1972, have been considered by the Football Association. And he won. Sir John Lang, 75-year-old retired civil servant; former soccer manager Stan Cullis; and ex-referee Norman Hillier formed the three-man tribunal, which sat for 2 hr. 10 min. Neither the referee nor his linesmen were summoned to give evidence, but the tribunal did watch TV film of the incident, in which Davies was also sent off. Sir John Lang issued a statement after the hearing that said: 'The tribunal is satisfied that Lloyd is not free from blame. It does, however, regard his sending-off as sufficient punishment and therefore quashes the sentence of a three-match suspension imposed by the Football Association.' . . . Brian Clough says that the Benfica match made him sick because his team played so much better than in the League. 'We must close the gap between us and Liverpool.'

10 Dave Mackay makes sweeping back-room changes at Nottingham F. So far their efforts have been independent of each other's, but League president Len Shipton said last night: 'This is a matter for combined action by all clubs and parties. The extra ten per cent would, of course, have to be passed on to the customers. When I started watching League matches I paid a bob. 28 Denis Follows makes the headlines again with an article in the FA News. He suggests a ban on all youngsters under 18 years of age from the terraces. He says: 'I know the answer is probably to have stadia with all seating accommodation. That is asking for perfection unlikely to be realised in the present state of football finance. But in the meantime can we not refuse admission to the terraces to all under the age of 18? We should certainly not then have invasions of the pitch on the scale we have them today—if we had them at all.' Mr. Follows adds: 'I know I can be accused of cutting off the vital source of life-blood to the game—the support of the young. But serious situations demand drastic remedies, and in desperate cases the innocent have to suffer for the guilty, the many for the sins of the few. Could we not try—as an experiment for a time—to see how it works?'

30 Sir Stanley Rous put the blame on the coaches for the drop in attendances. 'There are, of course, contributory factors to the attendance slide. One of these is hooliganism on the terraces. One idea worth consideration is that all spectators under the age of 17 should not be admitted to the terraces unless they are accompanied by an adult. But I still do not think the hooliganism problem should be allowed to overshadow the fact that in many matches the entertainment level is just not high enough to attract big attendances. Players must work at bringing more skill into the game and coaches must start thinking of adjusting their tactics to allow players to play.' . . . It has been suggested that Feyenoord, the Dutch club, are interested in signing George Best.

EIGHT GREAT GOALS OF 1972–73

Matches are often remembered for their goals. Men, too, often survive in the memory because of where they stood, how they shaped, and the skill they employed in that split-second in which they took a vital scoring chance. Yet usually the seasons record their goals only as a statistic. The records will say Smith (2), or United 1, Rovers 0, and these bare, unadorned numerals can give no picture to those who were not present when it happened, nor revive a single memory for those who saw but have since forgotten.

That is why, on the following pages, Rothmans Yearbook have captured in diagram form some of the distinctive scoring shots of the year; to preserve some moments in the game that deserve not to be forgotten. The selection, necessarily, is abitrary. They are not the 'best goals of the year', nor necessarily the 'most significant' – though some would qualify for a place in either list. Rather are they a selection of fine goals, a few random highlights of so many, selected instead for the variety of the method and reflecting the effort and enterprise that went into scoring wherever good football was played in the country. The rationale behind the final choice is as follows:

Malcolm Macdonald's goal aginst Leeds followed a decisive build-up which tore open one of the best-cemented defences in Europe – Barrowclough's dummy adding the final gloss to a positive move down the right-hand touchline before Macdonald provided a characteristically thorough finish.

At a time when Derby County's League form was totally unconvincing, they beat Benfica, undefeated in domestic competition, in the European Cup second round. The first leg was at the Baseball Ground, and John McGovern's goal, Derby's third, and a fine piece of opportunism, virtually sealed the result.

John Pratt's spectacular drive against Wolves helped Spurs to League Cup success. It came from a move of delicacy and a level of skill that is often taken for granted. Five Spurs players knocked the ball among themselves deftly and accurately before Pratt opened up with the shot.

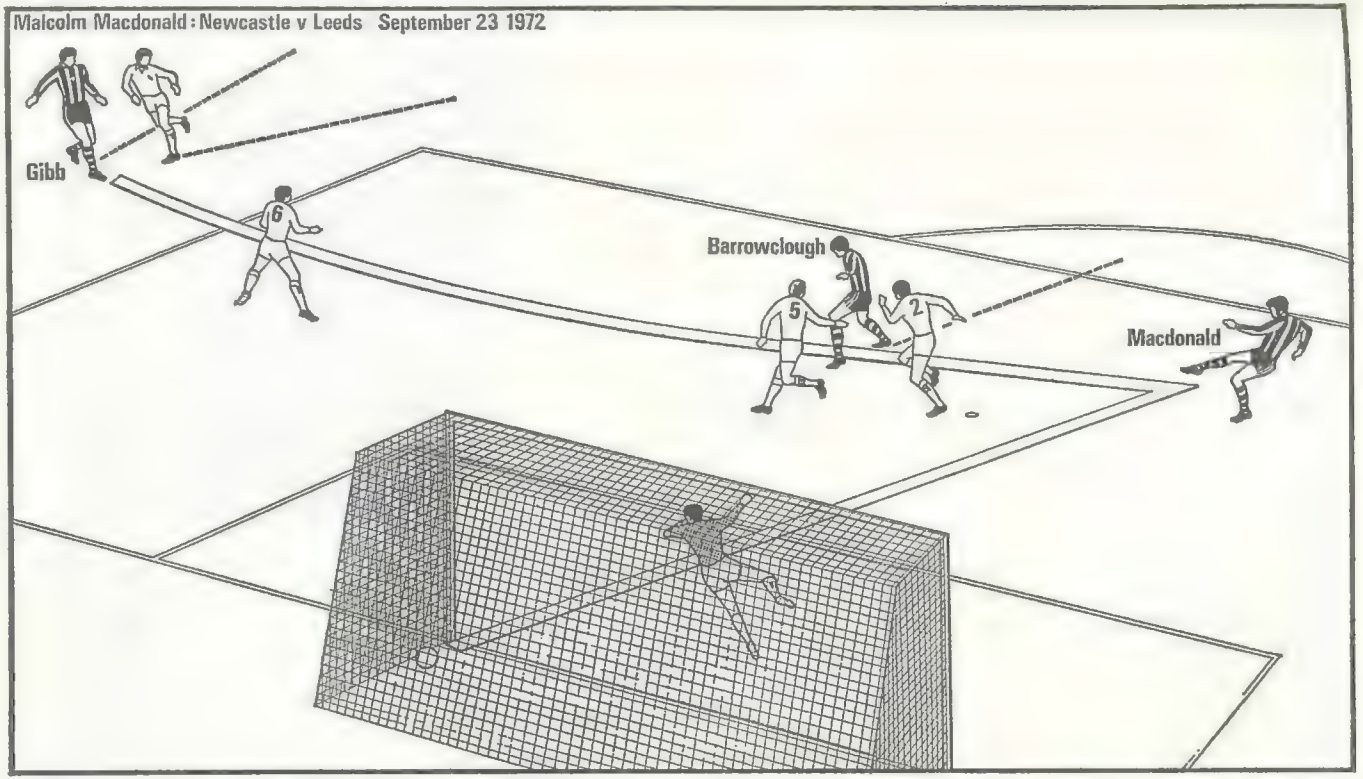
Liverpool, not the most prolific of scorers in recent seasons, owed much of their success to the alertness of John Toshack and Kevin Keegan, particularly in the air. The goal against Coventry emphasised this facet of their play; moreover the cross came from Peter Cormack, whose move from Nottingham Forest provided Bill Shankly with valuable extra skill in midfield.

Norwich City enjoyed an extraordinary season in which, for one reason or the other they were never out of the headlines – as early League pace-makers, League and Texaco Cup finalists and then Houdini-like escapists from relegation. Steve Govier's goal reflects the better times; it took them to Wembley.

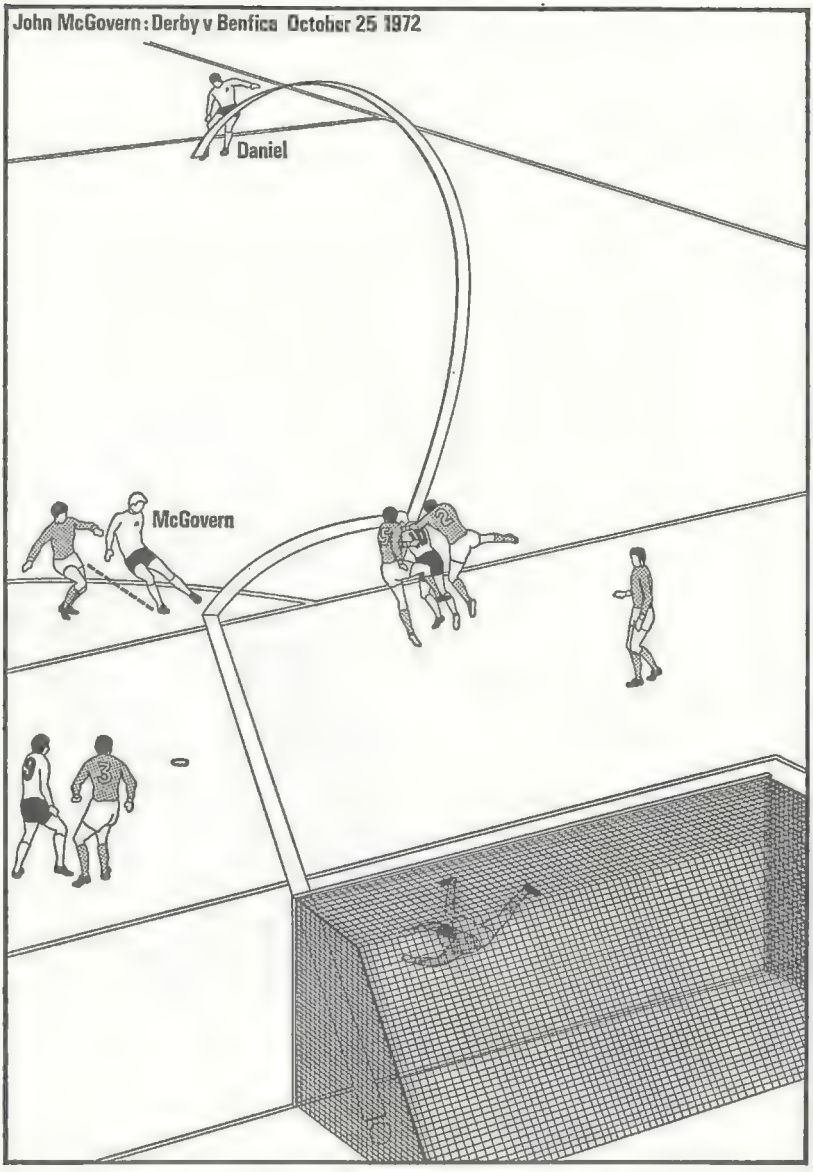
Norman Hunter's tremendous long-range effort against Wales not only earned consideration for its spectacular quality; hindsight may yet show it as the moment that saved England from ignominious World Cup exit.

John Radford enjoyed his best season for Arsenal; he showed tremendous consistency in the most demanding position in the modern game. His goals and unselfish front play kept Arsenal in the hunt for honours, and his memorable solo run that made certain of their win at Anfield typified his exceptional form.

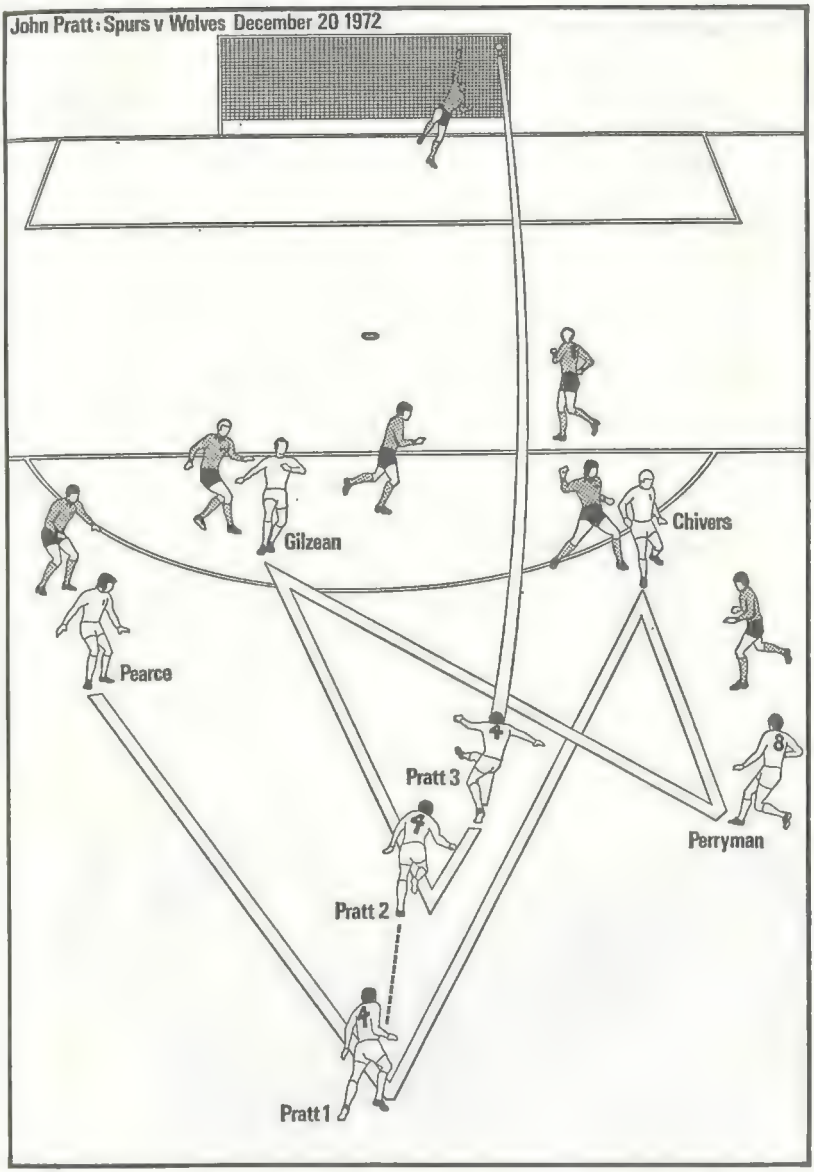
But above all it was Sunderland's year. And no selection could be complete without Ian Porterfield's historic volley. That, perhaps, was the most memorable goal of all.



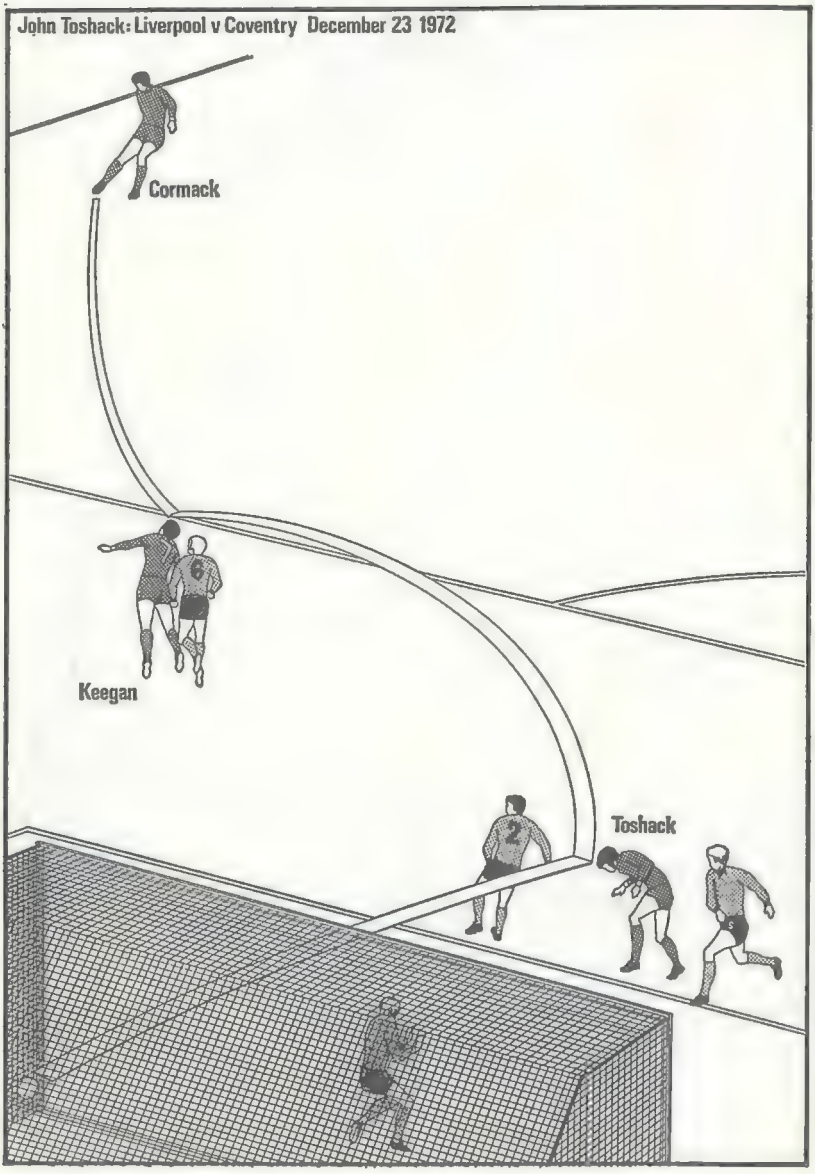
With the score 2-2, Newcastle produced a superb flowing move to beat Leeds at St. James's Park. Gibb moved wide to receive the ball as the play built up on the right flank. Barrowclough dummied over his low cross and Macdonald scored first time with his right foot



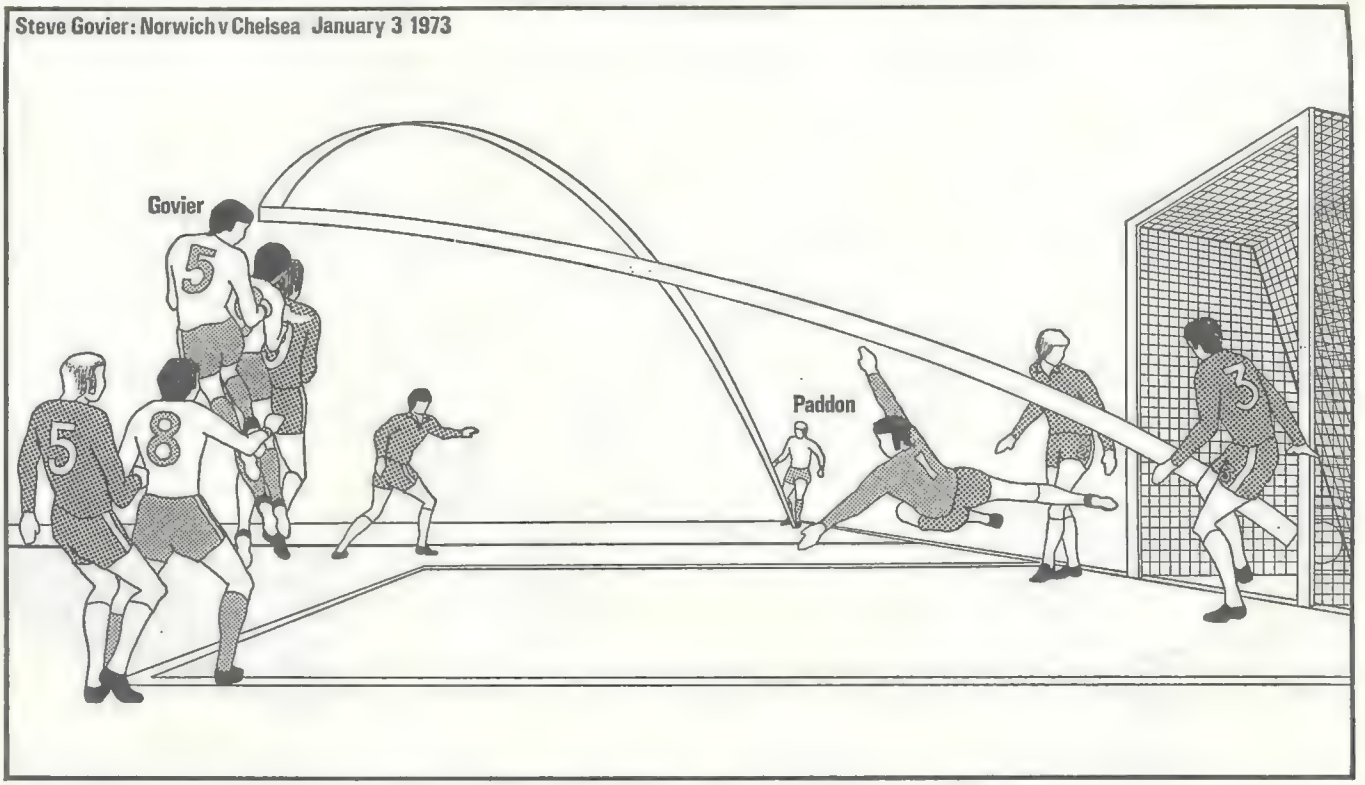
Derby County made light of unimpressive League form to put three first-half goals past Benfica in the first leg of the European Cup second round. The third – hooked in by John McGovern after the Portuguese, under pressure from Kevin Hector, had failed to clear Peter Daniel's high lob – enabled Derby to go to Lisbon with a defendable lead



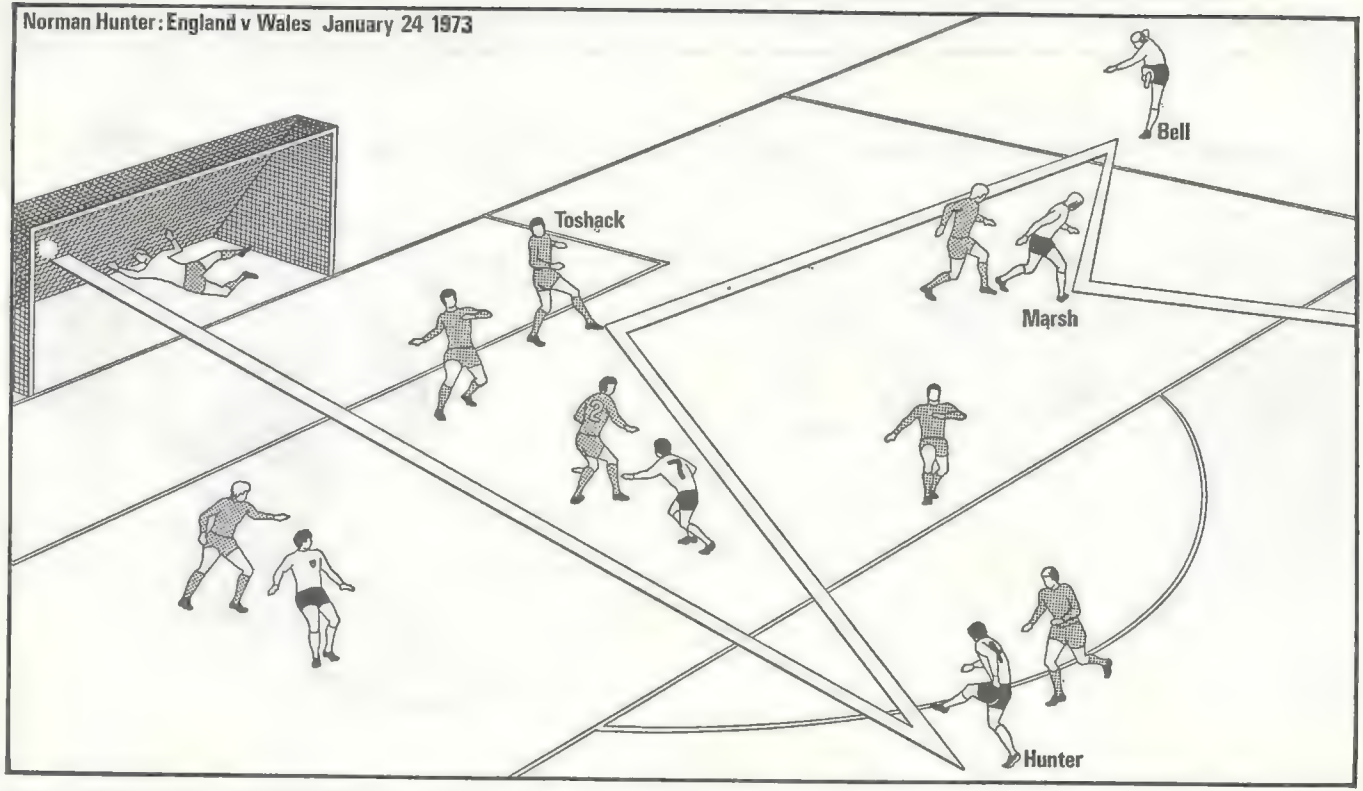
Characteristic Spurs build-up play with five short passes, delivered quickly and accurately, gave John Pratt a shooting chance in the first leg of the League Cup semi-final against Wolves at Molineux. Pratt responded with a swerving drive that matched the quality of the move. Spurs won 2-1, and went on to win the League Cup



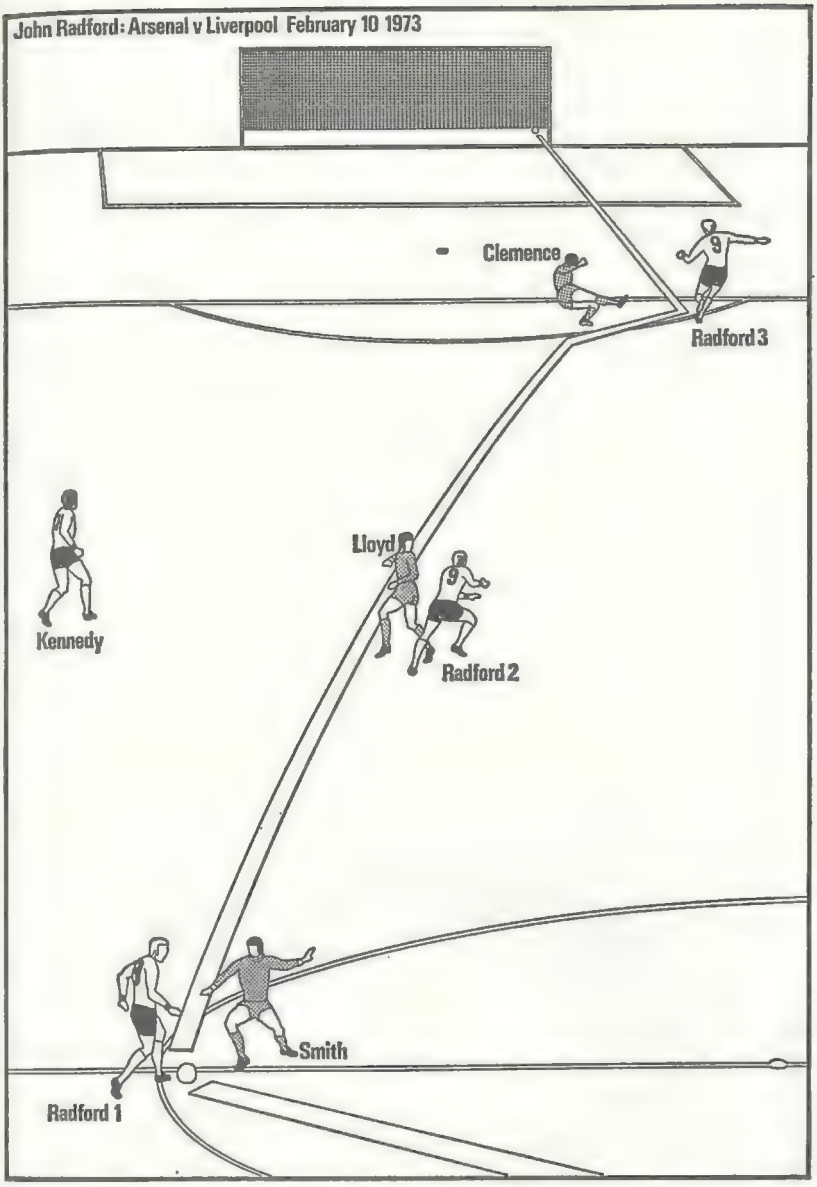
The power in the air of the small but springheeled Kevin Keegan and the towering John Toshack played an important role in Liverpool's League Championship win. There was no better example than in the League match against Coventry at Anfield. Keegan backheaded Cormack's astute cross and Toshack applied his definitive finish



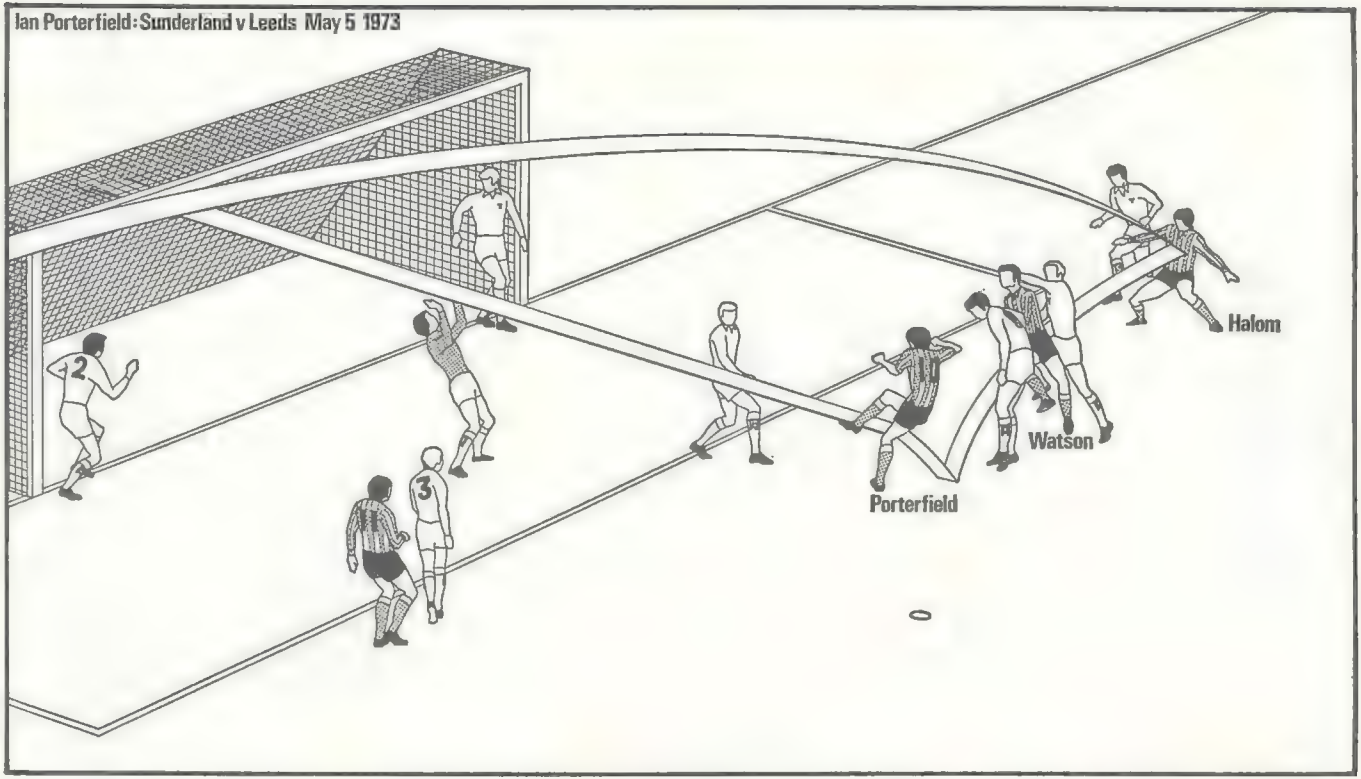
In the replayed League Cup semi-final second leg, Norwich City's reserve centre-half Steve Govier took City to Wembley for the first time. Stealing away from his marker, Peter Osgood, to meet the ball first, Govier headed in powerfully from Graham Paddon's corner



Norman Hunter's massive left foot drive proved the only way through the massed Wales defence in the World Cup qualifying tie at Wembley. The chance came when Colin Bell's fiercely driven cross was deflected to Hunter who drilled it first time past Gary Sprake



Strength, both physical and mental, enabled John Radford to score the goal which ensured an Arsenal win at Anfield. The pass, from Eddie Kelly, beat Smith, but Radford sent the ball one side of Lloyd and himself the other before taking on Clemence and the roar of the Kop to roll it into the net



From Billy Hughes' corner, Sunderland fashioned the season's most remembered goal. Watson's leap distracted the Leeds defence and the ball came back across goal from Halom. Porterfield caught it on his left thigh before volleying in right-footed

Footballer of the Year

On September 22, 1947, a meeting of British football writers held on board a cross-Channel ship, the day following the international match between Belgium and England, decided to form a Football Writers Association.

Three journalists, Charles Buchan (News Chronicle) Frank Coles (Daily Telegraph) and Roy Peskett (Daily Mail), were asked to draft rules.

A month later, a meeting was held at a Euston hotel, and officials elected. Ivan Sharpe (Sunday Chronicle) was chosen as the first Chairman, and Archie Quick (Army Newspapers), Secretary.

At the Committee meeting which followed, Roy Peskett proposed that an annual award to be called the Footballer of the Year be introduced.

This was seconded by Henry Rose (Daily Express), and carried.

At the end of the 1947–48 season, Stanley Matthews was the first man to receive the award, a statuette of a footballer on a square plinth. This Award, presented at a dinner held in London during Cup Final week, is given, in the words thought of by Charles Buchan:

'To the Player, who by precept and example on and off the field, shall have been considered to have done most for football during that season.'

The election is made on a voting system among the members of the Football Writers Association. Three men, Stanley Matthews, Tom Finney and Danny Blanchflower, have each won a trophy twice.

From time to time, the Committee of the F.W.A. make an additional award to an individual or to a club, for meritorious services to the game.

Pat Jennings, Spurs and Northern Ireland goalkeeper, was voted Footballer of the Year for the 1972–73 season by the F.W.A. He fully justified the award after many seasons of consistency at club and national level. The highlight of his season came on the morning of the Grand National when he saved two penalties at Anfield against Liverpool, who later went on to win the Championship.

Bill Shankly is the Manager of the Year

At the Bell's Scotch Whisky Football Managers Awards luncheon, held at the Café Royal on May 18, Bill Shankly was presented with a cheque for £1,000 by Mr. R. C. Miquel, chairman and managing director of Bell's, after topping the Manager of the Year poll taken by the awards panel of 25 leading British soccer journalists. Liverpool's historic double achievement of the League Championship and UEFA Cup is a tribute in itself to the man's remarkable ability in the hard and fickle field of football management, but moreover, his 14-year spell at Anfield is littered with success.

As this was the first year ever in which all four divisions of the Football League were won by Lancashire clubs, it was fitting that the Divisional Managers of the Season awards went to Jimmy Adamson (Burnley), Jimmy Armfield (Bolton Wanderers), and Jimmy Meadows (Southport). Each was presented with an inscribed salver and a cheque for £100 by Mr. L. T. Shipman, president of the Football League.

A special award of an inscribed salver and a cheque for £250 was presented to Bob Stokoe of Sunderland for his 'outstanding achievement at Roker Park since his arrival there, including being manager of the first Second Division club to win the F.A. Cup in 42 years'.

INTRODUCTION TO CLUB SECTION

By far the most popular feature of the Rothmans Football Yearbook has been the Club section. This year we have altered the format on 'page 1' and replaced the diagram of the ground with more detailed information concerning amenities inside and outside the club. Also, more detailed directions on how to get to the ground have been provided. Once again we are indebted to the various Club secretaries who were kind enough to supply the relative data.

The 'pages 2 and 3' of the section represent the complete record of each club during the domestic season of 1972-73 and once again it must be emphasised that while there is no authority for goalscorers, the decision of the club concerned has been noted wherever possible. On 'page 3' the figure 12 represents the substitute who actually played, while an asterisk denotes the player who was replaced. As in last year's edition all appearance figures and goals scored refer to Football League matches only and this principle applies to 'page 4' as well. For the first time we are including the League position of each club throughout the season as on the Saturdays shown on 'page 2'.

As far as 'page 4' is concerned it was felt that last year the omission of players who may have left their clubs at the end of the season was a mistake. Thus this season we have listed every player who finished the season with one particular club and indicated (*) whether he was given a free transfer or not at the end of 1972-73. On this same page it was decided last year to take out the 's' from the number of substitute appearances and this policy remains for the current book. For example, any player who made full as well as substitute appearances is listed as: 14+1. Players not making full appearances but appearing as substitutes are listed thus: +1. In addition those players not making appearances are given the notation (—) after their names. It was also decided to include under the name of each player whether he was a full international or not.

Our final 'copy date' for compiling information was, with a few exceptions, June 1. Thus some additional details concerning transfers, changes of colours etc., will not have been recorded.

Line-ups have been checked and rechecked with the clubs and with the Football League and Scottish League.

Finally, for the benefit of new subscribers to the Rothmans Football Yearbook, the position regarding transfer fees is that they are never officially disclosed and where clubs have been kind enough to alter figures they may vary from those which were originally published in the press at the time.

It is hoped that the foregoing will help you to follow the information in the Club section and add to your enjoyment of what is a unique feature.

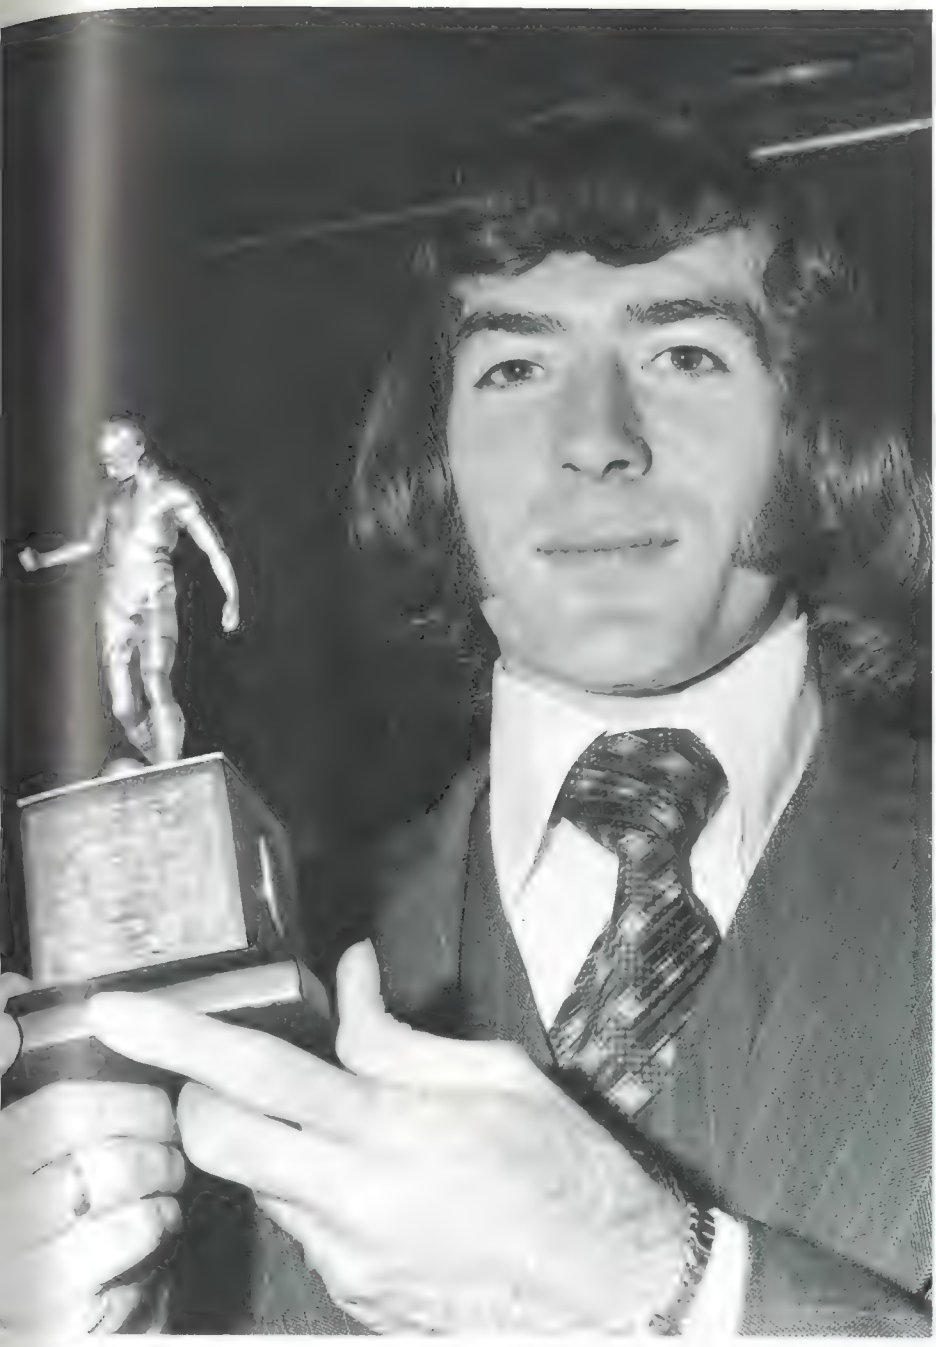
Club Nickname: 'Bluebirds'.



Pat Jennings of Spurs and Northern Ireland, generally acclaimed as one of the world's greatest goalkeepers, pictured with the Footballer of the Year Award for 1972–73, a well-deserved honour (see page 65).

Paul Madeley of Leeds makes a fierce challenge on Sunderland's Ron Guthrie during the F.A. Cup final at Wembley, with Paul Reaney looking on. But Sunderland soaked up all the pressure and won a memorable final.

Bobby Moore of West Ham and England takes a breather during his team's match against Liverpool in January. West Ham enjoyed one of their best seasons for years, finishing sixth in Division I.

Roy McFarland, Derby and England defender, gives his impersonation of Eros during the F.A. Cup fifth round tie with Q.P.R. Derby won through to the quarter-finals, only to be beaten by Leeds.

Emlyn Hughes, Liverpool and England defender, reflects the joy felt on Merseyside in 1972–73. In this match in April, Liverpool beat Leeds 2-0 to make the Championship virtually certain.

Liverpool have just scored their second goal against Leeds at Anfield in April, and Billy Bremner's expression epitomises another frustrating season for Leeds. They went on to be beaten in two cup finals and finish third in the League.

'Never take your eye off the ball' seems to be the moral of this picture. Alan Ball concentrates hard during this early-season clash between Arsenal and Stoke at Highbury, which Arsenal won 2-0.

Since he joined Leeds from Manchester United, Johnny Giles has established himself as one of the best wingers in the game. A native of Dublin, Giles has won honours at club and international level.

Peter Lorimer (left) of Leeds and Scotland pictured battling with Geoff Butler of Norwich during an F.A. Cup third round tie at Carrow Road. Two replays were needed before Leeds won their expected victory.

Southampton's Mick Channon (right) is one of the most promising young players on the international scene, with the strike-force of Chivers, Channon, and Clarke working well. Pat Howard of Newcastle has Mick by the shirt in this picture.

'After you, Allan!' seems to be the message from Liverpool's Larry Lloyd in this picture from the Liverpool v Leeds game at Anfield in April. But in reality Liverpool gave nothing to Allan Clarke (centre), and Leeds' title hopes were gone.

Determination is the key-note of this 50-50 situation between Colin Todd (left) of Derby and Tommy Hutchison of Coventry. Todd's consistently high standard should see him back in an England shirt before long.

This young man, John Richards of Wolves, won his first England cap in the 1972–73 British International Championship, and illustrated by his form all season that there will be more to come.

The goal that won the First Division Championship in 1972–73. Kevin Keegan (left) of Liverpool slams in the vital second goal against Leeds on Easter Monday, and Lorimer, Yorath, and Reaney can only watch.

Sunderland's captain, Bobby Kerr, proudly holds the F.A. Cup which his team have just won at Wembley, beating Leeds in a story-book final to become the first Second Division team to win the trophy in 42 years.

Manager of the Year Bill Shankly (left) of Liverpool is congratulated by Bob Stokoe, manager of Cup-winners Sunderland. Stokoe received a special award to mark his achievement in only six months at Roker Park.

FA Cup

THE FINAL, WEMBLEY, MAY 5, 1973

Leeds U. 0 Sunderland 1

For once the essence and character of the F.A. Cup, its capacity for unpredictability, spread beyond the lower rounds to the final itself. Sunderland, a club from the backwaters of the Second Division and from a town of economic disenchantment, had already provided enough shocks for several seasons by reaching Wembley at the expense of Manchester City and Arsenal. Yet they had gone about their task in unconvincing fashion at first, being forced to replay against Third Division Notts County in the third round, and then Fourth Division Reading in the fourth round.

Meanwhile Leeds had not exactly had it all their own way. Norwich had made them play three times before they notched up a 5-0 victory, a result which most pundits had predicted in the first encounter. Then, in the fourth round, they could only manage a narrow victory over Plymouth.

It was not until the fifth round that Sunderland really attracted the attention of the public at large by their performances against Manchester City. In the replay at Sunderland the First Division side was not only beaten, but beaten in fine style. Yet it is probable that few people outside Sunderland really believed in the team's ability to reach Wembley. There was a long way to go yet, and stranger things than Sunderland's recent victory had happened in the F.A. Cup in modern times. People remembered Colchester's drubbing of Leeds United two years ago, but how much further had that lowly side got in the competition? Even when Stokoe's men reached the semi-final the public generally were not too worried. After all, they had faced only Second Division opposition in the sixth round. When Arsenal were outplayed and deservedly beaten at Hillsborough, however, everybody outside Leeds was behind the under-dogs, willing them to win the Cup. The scene was set for the most interesting Cup final for years.

Despite their popular support, Sunderland still had no chance on paper. Leeds were recognised as one of the greatest club sides in Europe. Ten of their players were playing in their second successive final; 11 of their 12 named players were full internationals. Sunderland had not been to Wembley since 1937, and their goalkeeper, Jim Montgomery, was the only player on their staff that many people had heard of. Don Revie had taken Leeds to nine finals in as many seasons; Bob Stokoe had taken over at Roker Park only the previous December, having taken Blackpool to second place in the Second Division, his most noteworthy achievement in a managerial career that had previously seen him at Bury, Carlisle, Charlton, and Rochdale.

Track-suited Stokoe, his face as craggy as his beloved North-East coastline, and Revie, in his lucky suit, led their teams on to a pitch yielding and slippery from heavy morning rain. Sunderland soon settled to the vastness of the occasion, and the aerial dominance of Watson and Pitt over Jones and Clarke was immediately apparent. Eddie Gray, playing his first important match for some time following an injury, was effectively contained by Kerr, and young Horswill tenaciously chased Bremner and Giles.

In the early stages of the game, moments of desperate anxiety for Sunderland were few, though twice Watson fashioned rescuing tackles on Clarke. Vic Halom received good service from the men behind him, and in turn set off his more nimble henchmen Hughes and Tueart. The elegant Porterfield, coolly wielding his left foot and outshining the similar weapons of Hunter and Gray, bought his side time and space. Only frantic cover by Cherry thwarted Hughes, and then Horswill's drive from 20 yards narrowly missed the right-hand post, with Harvey well beaten.

Sunderland were already earning respect for their skill and determination when they scored in the 31st minute. Harvey had recognised the greasiness of the ball in turning Kerr's mis-hit centre over the bar, and Hughes came up to take the corner kick. The ball flew beyond the far post, over Watson, whose timed leap distracted two Leeds defenders, and came back across goal via Halom's knee. Porterfield found time to cushion it on his left thigh, before volleying over Harvey with his right and much weaker foot.

Knocked out of their stride in the first half, especially by persistent and willing harassment in midfield, Leeds played much better in the second half. Full-backs Reaney and Cherry hurled themselves forward to add width to the assault, but every cross was repelled by a broad forehead, usually Watson's, or by Montgomery's fist. When the goalkeeper did fail to hold a Bremner shot, Malone reacted quickest to clear.

If one wanted to name a point in time when the Leeds challenge effectively ended, then two incidents come to mind. Watson's apparent trip on Bremner in the penalty area went unpunished, and then Montgomery produced a double save of historic dimension. He dived left to parry Cherry's forceful and well-placed header, but the ball rolled to Lorimer five yards in front of an empty net. The man with one of the hardest shots in football struck the ball cleanly, but Montgomery had scrambled to his knees and launched himself again, just managing to turn the ball up onto the underside of the bar, from where it bounced back into play and was cleared.

Sunderland resisted this pressure with character. When they freed themselves they countered with pace and aggression; in the game's last moments Halom drained his legs with a 15-yard drive that Harvey pawed away with a fine save at full stretch.

Leeds failed to overcome the problems of playing a non-First Division side, who challenged for possession all over the pitch. They could find no way past Watson in the air, and Gray, who they had hoped would inspire them on the ground, was so subdued that Yorath replaced him.

The problems of playing a team from a lower division are very real. When such encounters are in prospect, the First Division side always claim that they are treating the match like any other, and are not going to be dangerously over-confident. While this attitude is sensible, and the players may well not be over-confident, the fact remains that the psychological advantage is with the underdogs. If Sunderland had lost the final 5-0, few people would have complained, and everybody would have congratulated them on getting so far in the competition. Yet for Leeds to lose would be a disaster, albeit a popular one outside Leeds, and the players are aware of this. Leeds failed to dominate the match at the start, and so the pressure increased, while Sunderland were still able to play relaxed football. With no little skill, and spirit in abundance, they won by their own endeavours – stimulated by Stokoe, to all on Wearside the 'Messiah'.

Leeds United: Harvey; Reaney, Madeley, Hunter, Cherry; Bremner, Giles, Gray (Yorath 75th min.); Lorimer, Jones, Clarke.

Sunderland: Montgomery; Malone, Watson, Pitt, Guthrie; Kerr, Horswill, Porterfield; Hughes, Halom, Tueart. Scorer: Porterfield – 31st min.

THE FINAL, WEMBLEY, MARCH 3 1973

Tottenham Hotspur 1 Norwich City 0

Tottenham Hotspur became the first team to have their name on the League Cup twice when they beat Norwich City, also previous winners, with a second-half goal from Ralph Coates. At best it was a disappointing final. Spurs rarely freed themselves from Norwich's choking style of play, and the game was fought in midfield rather than the goalmouths. And there the tenacity of Briggs, Livermore, Anderson, and Paddon so often cancelled out the flair of Peters and the exuberant skills of Perryman.

Ironically, though, the game was won with a goal from a midfield player. Coates had not joined the game until the 22nd minute when John Pratt had to leave the field with a torn thigh muscle, but the former Burnley player settled quickly and had already posed problems before his moment came with just 18 minutes to play. Norwich failed to clear a long throw from Martin Chivers. Peters got a touch, so did a defender, and the ball rolled to Coates on the right-hand front of the penalty area. His low drive beat Keelan at the far post.

From that point Spurs played with increasing freedom as Norwich had to come forward. Knowles hit a post near the end; Pearce too had previously struck the woodwork. Yet the East Anglian side might have earned a reprieve five minutes from time when centre-half Duncan Forbes, an inspiring leader on the day, sent a header wide from in front of goal.

Norwich had taken the field as undoubted underdogs. In their first season in the First Division they had not had a League win to boost their confidence since November 18. Nor had they scored a goal in their previous four games, and they gambled on Jim Blair as a striker in only his second full first-team game. Yet to reach Wembley they had played so impressively against two other London sides. Arsenal had been beaten by three clear goals at Highbury and Norwich actually had to beat Chelsea three times in the semi-final (fog causing the second leg to be abandoned with just six minutes remaining and Norwich 3-2 ahead) to reach Wembley.

For Spurs it was another statistic in their remarkable cup record. This was their ninth senior final and their ninth win, the sixth under manager Bill Nicholson. Following the League Cup triumph in 1971 and the UEFA Cup in 1972, it brought Spurs a proud hat-trick.

Norwich City: Keelan; Payne, Stringer, Forbes, Butler, Anderson, Livermore, Briggs, Paddon, Blair (sub Howard), Cross.

Review of the Season

by Alex Cameron, of the Daily Record

Celtic are champions for the eighth time in Scotland, a situation approaching monopoly. Their remarkable record, under the brilliant managership of Jock Stein, can be fully appreciated only if one considers its unique consistency. Stein had to re-build the team without loss of efficiency, and never looked for an excuse for merely 'consolidating'. The present side might not yet be quite so exciting as the European Cup winning team of 1967, but its potential is limitless. In George Connelly they have Scotland's 'Footballer of the Year', Danny McGrain is an excellent young full-back, and both Kenny Dalglish and Dixie Deans are players with a great future in the game. Their defeat against the Hungarians, Ujpest Dozsa was a disappointment, but Celtic will always represent Scotland in Europe with honour, and next season could easily become the first British club to win the trophy twice.

Celtic's success in the 1972–73 Championship was predictable. What was not was the superb recovery by Rangers in the League in which they finished runners-up after one of the worst starts in their history. The anti-climax of disappointment for the largest following in Scotland was offset by winning the Scottish Cup – against Celtic.

The Ibrox club, banned for a year from Europe after the infamous crowd scenes in Barcelona when they beat Dynamo Moscow in the Cup-Winners' Cup Final, return to the same tournament, and, because of their tremendous crowd-drawing power, officials of UEFA and leading European clubs have welcomed them. Moreover, Rangers have an outstanding chance to repeat their 1971 victory.

It was a mixed season for Hibernians, the Edinburgh club. Guided by manager Eddie Turnbull they won two major early-season competitions, the Dryborough and League Cups, but faced with games in Europe and a tough domestic tussle with Celtic and Rangers in the championship they shaded off. How much of this was due to a cruel leg-break sustained by right back John Brownlie, one of the brightest of Scottish players, at a critical part of the season and an SFA suspension imposed on forward Alex Edwards we shall never know. Anyway, Hibs promise to be one of the good teams next season and will certainly not be far from the top – if, indeed, they don't finish there. They play attractively and have succeeded in bringing back thousands of fans to Easter Road, which is an achievement in itself.

What Scottish football needs more than anything is a more competitive league and it is clubs like Hibs who will provide this.

The promoted teams, Second Division champions Clyde and Dunfermline, will have harder jobs than ever to stay up. It has been much more difficult in the close season to fix up experienced players who could help youngsters over the first months of First Division football.

Internationally, Scotland lost Tommy Docherty to Manchester United. This was a severe blow, for The Doc had built up the team and excited the fans about World Cup prospects after beating Denmark twice. Docherty also took with him to Old Trafford the first £200,000 home Scot, Lou Macari, from Celtic.

The new Scots boss, Willie Ormond, former St. Johnstone manager, retains Macari in his pool, and he has spelt out clearly what he wants in the efforts to beat Czechoslovakia to qualify for the World Cup finals in W. Germany.

Next season could be the most exciting for years in Europe at club level and with a Scotland team confirmed by then as World Cup contenders.

IRISH AND WELSH FOOTBALL

Irish competitions

Welsh competitions

Another season of crisis. That is the only description which could be applied to the Irish League season in which clubs struggled against adversity and, in the end, emerged with commendable credit. Civil unrest again cut attendances, prevented clubs entering European competitions and also the staging of International matches at Windsor Park, Belfast. To complete the programme within the specific period was in itself a feat.

Perhaps the most significant development was the resignation of Derry City from the Irish League in November after a refusal by other clubs to play at Brandywell on security grounds. Their place was taken by Larne who had last competed in senior football in 1939. Since then they had been one of the leading clubs in the 'B' Division; their election meant a dramatic change for them and they, too, have to be congratulated for the progressive way they tackled elevation to a higher status.

Another significant event was the retirement of Terry Neill (Hull City) as a player both for club and country. He remains international team manager and after the Cyprus defeat decided to axe some of the long established stars and embark on a new era – an era of youth. Those British championship results prove it is the correct policy. When he played his last match against Wales at Goodison Park, Liverpool, it was his 59th appearance and he became the most capped Irishman of all time. The previous record stood at 56 and was held jointly by Danny Blanchflower and Billy Bingham.

More sponsorship is sought in the coming season. Two tournaments are now backed by commercial enterprise – the Carlsberg series at the start of the season and the Blaxnit All-Ireland Cup which covers the four semi-finalists in the Irish and Republic of Ireland Cups. Efforts are now being made to get sponsorship of at least one major domestic competition.

Internationally, it was a season of mixed fortunes. There was the World Cup defeat against Bulgaria in which George Best, later to announce his retirement, was ordered off, and the ultimate humiliation of all – a 1-0 defeat by Cyprus in Nicosia. Amends were made however, and prestige restored in the British International Championship series with wins over Scotland and Wales and a 2-1 defeat by England. All matches had to be played away from home with Goodison Park nominated for the British championship, Coventry for the World Cup tie with Portugal, and Craven Cottage, Fulham, for the return with Cyprus. It proved a big handicap with, of course, gate receipts not reaching the anticipated amounts. 'It proves that once you take a match away from its natural environment, and for us that means Belfast, then you are on a loser. The crowd appeal just does not exist', said Irish F.A. President Harry Cavan.

Despite 'the troubles' English clubs still found Northern Ireland a fertile area for transfer material. Among those to depart were Trevor Anderson (Portadown to Manchester United), Robert Strain (Portadown to Manchester City), and Charlie Tuson (Crusaders to Swindon Town).

Prospects for the immediate future don't look any brighter but the soccer authorities and the clubs press forward determined they will not be overwhelmed by events over which they have no control. With such a spirit the game will never be allowed to die.

BLAXNIT CUP

(For semi-finalists from I.F.A. and F.A.I. Cups.)
Because of the civil unrest in Northern Ireland it was impossible to organise the tournament in its original form. Prize money for revised series was distributed as follows: Defeated semi-finalists in I.F.A. and F.A.I. Cups – £150 each; defeated finalists £300; winners £500 each; two legged final – winners £800, losers £400.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE DIVISION ONE CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS TABLE

(Compiled by Tim and Jonathan Rice)

This is the all-time Football League Division One Champion of Champions table. All the First Division League tables from the very first season in 1888-89 to the end of last season, 1972-73, have been added together to produce a final order of merit for the 52 teams who have played in English football's most important competition. This all-time table has little to do with current form, although most of today's big guns are fairly well up at the top. The major exception is Leeds United, who are still placed only 25th overall despite enjoying nine seasons of exceptional success.

Most experts would agree that the English First Division is the best football league in the world, and certainly it is the most demanding and difficult to win. For the last seven seasons, the title has been won by seven different clubs and not since Wolverhampton Wanderers in 1957-58 and 1958-59 has a club won the League in two consecutive seasons. This surely gives the lie to the widely-held theory that English football is dominated by three or four clubs whose stranglehold is getting tighter.

Everton can feel justifiably proud of their position at the head of the table, now over 200 points ahead of their nearest rivals, Aston Villa. Everton do not of course hold every record in Division One football, and a case could be made for other clubs showing better First Division form. Arsenal for example have won a higher percentage of points available to them – 54·76% to Everton's 53·26%. Indeed, Liverpool, Aston Villa, and Tottenham also beat Everton on that score.

The table shows up many interesting facts which one might not otherwise have suspected. Arsenal are the only side to have lost less than one third of all their games. They have taken at least one point from two of every three games they have played in the First Division. Manchester United are only a little worse, having lost just over one third of their games, while Queen's Park Rangers have lost exactly two-thirds. And then there are the milestones passed by individual clubs each season. In 1972-73 Arsenal won their 2,500th point. Sheffield United played their 2,000th game and won their 2,000th point. Wolverhampton Wanderers won their 2,000th point some three seasons before their 2,000th game is due, while West Ham played their 1,000th game at least one full season before they can expect their 1,000th point.

In 1972-73 Chelsea conceded their 3,000th goal. Everton drew for the 600th time, while Manchester City played their 500th draw and suffered their 800th defeat. For Norwich City, every game and every goal created its own (rather small) mark on the Champion of Champions table.

There are some interesting battles on the table which will continue in 1973-74. Sheffield United and Wolverhampton Wanderers may well overtake each other more than once, but they will both have to wait a few seasons before they can catch Bolton Wanderers. Burnley have won promotion in time to hold off Chelsea's challenge, and Birmingham City and Stoke City will continue their running battle as they strike out for Preston North End. Preston are at least six good seasons ahead of Birmingham and Stoke, but only seven points in front of Tottenham Hotspur. Manchester United's second league game will be their 2,000th in Division One: Burnley's fourth goal of the season will be their 3,000th and the 29th they concede the 3,000th against. Liverpool's first point will be their 2,500th while West Ham's last might be their 1,000th. Leicester City should score their 2,000th goal and Ipswich their 500th. Southampton, in one less season than Ipswich, may well get close to their own 500th goal. But Everton's magnificent record over the 74 seasons of the football league has given them a virtually unassailable lead for a long time to come.

FIRSTS IN FOOTBALL

Football League

The first five Football League games were played on September 8 1888. Bolton Wanderers were three goals up in about six minutes against Derby County, but were eventually beaten 6-3. Cox of Aston Villa scored the first 'own goal', giving Wolverhampton Wanderers an early lead, but Villa recovered to draw 1-1.

Huddersfield Town became the first team to complete a hat-trick of League Championships – 1924–25–26.

F.A. Cup

Tottenham Hotspur was the first Southern club to win the Cup when they beat Sheffield United in 1901. Spurs were then members of the Southern League and so were the first and only non-League club to carry off the trophy.

King George V was the first reigning monarch to attend a Cup Final. He saw Burnley beat Liverpool at the Crystal Palace in 1914.

David Jack (Bolton Wanderers) scored the first goal in a Wembley Cup Final. This was in 1923 when the crowd broke in to see the Wanderers beat West Ham United 2-0.

Extra time was first played in the Cup Final in 1877. Wanderers and Oxford University were drawing 0-0 at full-time, but Wanderers scored twice in extra time.

Internationals and representative games

The first representative game was played at Battersea Park, March 31 1866, London beating Sheffield by two goals and four touch-downs to nil.

The first official England v Scotland international was played at the West of Scotland Cricket Ground, Partick, November 30 1872, and resulted in a goalless draw.

Wales played their first international in 1876, losing 4-0 to Scotland in Glasgow.

Ireland's first international was against England at Bloomfield, Belfast, in 1882 when the visitors won 13-0.

Caps were first awarded for appearances in internationals in 1886.

The Football League played their first representative game in April 1891. It was against the Football Alliance at Sheffield and resulted in a draw 1-1.

England's first defeat on foreign soil in a full international was against Spain in Madrid in 1929 when the Spaniards won 4-3.

England's first home defeat by a continental country was at Wembley in 1953 when Hungary won 6-3.

Scotland's first home defeat by a foreign team was at Hampden Park in 1950 when Austria won 1-0.

Billy Wright became the first international in Britain to gain 100 caps when he captained England against Scotland at Wembley in April 1959.

Terry Venables was the first player to win international honours for England at five levels – Schoolboy, Youth, Amateur, Under-23 and Full International. He gained his first full cap in October 1964.

Floodlit football

The first-ever game by floodlight was that between two Sheffield Association teams at Bramall Lane, October 14 1878.

The first F.A. Cup tie under floodlights was a replay between Kidderminster Harriers and Brierley Hill Alliance, September 14 1955.

Floodlights were first switched on during an international match in England in November 1955 at Wembley – England v Spain.

The first Football League game under floodlights – Portsmouth v Newcastle United, at Fratton Park, February 22 1956.

The first full international played entirely under floodlights in Britain took place at Wembley in 1963 when England beat N. Ireland 8-3.

Hat-tricks

The first hat-trick in an F.A. Cup Final was that scored by William Townley for Blackburn Rovers v Sheffield Wednesday in 1890.

Equipment, etc

Shinguards were first introduced and registered by Sam Widdowson of Nottingham Forest in 1874. The cross-bar first replaced the tape in 1875, and the whistle was used by the referee for the first time in 1878. Goalnets were invented and patented by J. A. Brodie of Liverpool in 1890 and were first used in the F.A. Cup Final in 1892.

Substitutes

First substitute in a Football League game – Keith Peacock of Charlton Athletic, at Bolton, August 21 1965.

The first instance of a substitute in a home International Championship game was at Wrexham in 1908 when Dai Davies of Bolton Wanderers took over from the injured L. R. Roose in the Welsh goal against England.

England's first substitute in a full international was Jimmy Mullen (Wolverhampton Wanderers) who took over from the injured Jackie Milburn after 10 minutes of the game against Belgium in Brussels, May 18 1950.

The first substitute to score in a Football League game was Bobby Knox (Barrow) v Wrexham, Division 4, August 21 1965.

Transfers

The first four, five, and six-figure transfer fees between British clubs were as follows:

£1,000 – Alf Common, Sunderland to Middlesbrough, 1905.
£10,890 – David Jack, Bolton Wanderers to Arsenal, 1928.
£110,000 – Alan Ball, Blackpool to Everton, 1966.

Radio and TV

The first match broadcast in England was the First Division game between Arsenal and Sheffield United at Highbury, January 22 1927.

The first Football League game to be televised was Blackpool v Bolton Wanderers, September 10 1960.

The first F.A. Cup tie to be televised – other than the Final – was Charlton Athletic v Blackburn Rovers, 5th Round, February 8 1947.

Corner-kick

Billy Smith was the first player to score direct from a corner-kick in a Football League game – Huddersfield Town v Arsenal, October 11 1924.

Limited Company

The first football club to form itself into a limited liability company was Birmingham City in 1888. At that time they were still known as Small Heath.

Penalty kick

The first player to score from a penalty kick in a Football League match was Heath of Wolverhampton Wanderers v Accrington, Division I, September 14 1891.

Professional

The identity of the first professional footballer may never be definitely established, but it was probably J. J. Lang, a Scot who joined Sheffield Wednesday in 1876 after playing for Clydesdale and Glasgow Eastern.

Tour

Oxford University were the first to send a football team on an overseas tour. This was in 1875 when they visited Germany.

SOME OTHER RECORDS

The oldest player ever to appear in the Football League was Neil McBain who played in goal for New Brighton v Hartlepools United, Division 3(N), March 15 1947. He was then aged 52 years 4 months.

The oldest player ever to appear for any of the home countries in a full international was Billy Meredith. He was nearly 46 years of age when he played for Wales v England, March 15 1920.

The record for most appearances in the Football League during one season by a player over 40 years of age was created by Bob McGrory. In his last season as a player with Stoke City (1934–35) he appeared in all 42 First Division games. Bob was then 43 years of age.

The record for most consecutive appearances in the Football League was created by Harold Bell, Tranmere Rovers centre-half. Commencing with the opening game of season 1946–47 Bell did not miss a single game until August 1955 – a run of 401 consecutive Division 3(N) matches. Including F.A. Cup, Liverpool Senior Cup and Cheshire Bowl games, Bell enjoyed a run of 459 consecutive first team appearances.

Jimmy Dickinson created a club record by making 764 Football League appearances for Portsmouth between 1946 and 1965. In the Scottish League the record for most appearances for a single club was created by Bob Ferrier with a total of 626 for Motherwell between 1918 and 1937.

Billy Wright (Wolverhampton Wanderers) set up a world record by playing in 70 consecutive internationals for England, from 1951 to 1959.

Since substitutes were introduced into League football in 1965, Bristol City is the club that has played through the longest spell without calling upon one of these players – a run of 52 League games, 4 F.A. Cup, and 2 League Cup ties from February 1966 to April 1967.

The shortest player ever to appear in the Football League is outside-right Fred le May who was only 5 ft tall. He played for Thames 1930–31, Watford 1931–32, and Clapton Orient 1932–33. The tallest was Albert Iremonger, Notts County and Lincoln City goalkeeper 1904–27. He was 6 ft 5 in. tall.

The longest F.A. Cup tie was that in the 4th qualifying round between Alvechurch and Oxford City in 1971. This needed 11 hours (six games) before Oxford City won 1-0.

The longest single game on record is that between Stockport County and Doncaster Rovers, March 26 1946. In an effort to reach a decisive result this Third Division (N) cup tie continued for 205 minutes before bad light forced an abandonment.

Rochdale suffered 14 consecutive home defeats in Division 3(N) in 1931–32. This is a Football League record. After beating New Brighton 3-2 on November 7 1931, they did not get another home point until holding Barrow to a goalless draw in their second home game of season 1932–33. During that same period Rochdale suffered one run of 17 consecutive defeats (home and away) – also a Football League record.

In season 1905–06 Bristol City won 14 consecutive Division 2 games. This Football League record was equalled by Preston North End in Division 2 in 1950–51.

The Scottish League record for the longest run of consecutive victories was created by Morton in Division 2 in 1963–64 when they won 23 games in a row.

Leeds United were undefeated in a run of 34 First Division games, October 1968 to August 1969. This is a Football League record.

The longest run without defeat in a single season of Football League games is one of 30 matches by Burnley in Division 1 in 1920–21.

In the Scottish League, Celtic created a record by remaining undefeated in a run of 63 games – November 1915 to April 1917.

Blackburn Rovers hold the record for the longest run of consecutive F.A. Cup ties without defeat. From December 1883 to December 1886 they were unbeaten in 24 Cup ties and won the trophy three times during this period.

The only player to score two goals for each side in a Football League game is Sam Wynne. In Division 2, October 6 1923, he scored with a free-kick and a penalty for Oldham Athletic, but put through his own goal for Manchester United.

Arthur Chandler scored in each of 16 consecutive Football League games for Leicester City in Division 2 during season 1924–25. This is a League record.

Jimmy Cookson was the player who reached a first century of Football League goals in the shortest time. He made his debut for Chesterfield in 1925 and reached his century in December 1927 with West Bromwich Albion when figuring in his 87th Football League game.

The record number of goals scored by a player making his Football League debut is five – by George Hilsdon for Chelsea v Glossop, Division 2, September 1 1906.

The record for scoring the fastest goal in a Football League game is claimed by Jim Fryatt. According to Referee Mr R. J. Simon this player scored for Bradford v Tranmere Rovers only four seconds after the kick-off, April 25 1964.

The fastest goals scored in the F.A. Cup Final at Wembley were obtained in the first minute. In 1928 John Roscamp put Blackburn Rovers ahead when he charged both the Huddersfield goalkeeper and the ball into the net, and in 1955 Jackie Milburn headed Newcastle United into a first-minute lead over Manchester City.

John McIntyre scored four goals in five minutes for Blackburn Rovers v Everton, Division 1, September 16 1922.

W. G. Richardson also scored four goals in five minutes for West Bromwich Albion, Division 1, November 7 1931, but this was even more remarkable because the feat was achieved in an away game – against West Ham United.

The record number of penalties missed by one side in a Football League Division 1 game is three. Manchester City (Fletcher 2 and Thornley) missed this number against Newcastle United, January 27 1912.

The most penalties scored by a player in a First Division game is three – Billy Walker for Aston Villa v Bradford City, November 21 1921; Charlie Mitten for Manchester United v Aston Villa, March 8 1950, and Ken Barnes for Manchester City v Everton, December 7 1957.

The record number of players from the same club in an England team is seven. Frank Moss, George Male, Eddie Hapgood, Wilf Copping, Raymond Bowden, Ted Drake and Clifford Bastin, all of Arsenal, played against Italy at Highbury, November 14 1934.

The England team twice included all Corinthian players in the 1890s but this cannot be considered a record because the Corinthians were a combined eleven, most of their players also appearing with other clubs.

In season 1933–34 Aston Villa created a Football League club record by having as many as 15 internationals on their books. This record was equalled by Manchester United in 1965–66, although one of their capped players at that time was only an amateur international.

The England team that won the 1966 World Cup created a record for the country by remaining unchanged in six consecutive games – the quarter-final, semi-final and final of the World Cup and their next three games.

England's longest run without defeat is one of 20 games between 1889 and 1896.

The biggest championship winning margin for any division of the Football League is 12 points. Queen's Park Rangers finished that far ahead of the runners-up in Division 3 in 1966–67.

The smallest number of players called upon by a club to complete a season of Football League games is 14 by Liverpool when winning the Championship in 1965–66. Five of their players were ever-present.

In the Scottish League, Dundee called upon only 15 players throughout season 1961–62. They also won the Championship that season and had five players ever-present.

The goalscoring record for a goalkeeper in a single season of Football League games was set up in 1923–24 by Arnold Birch of Chesterfield. In Division 3(N) games that season he scored five goals, all from penalties.

Four men have both played in and managed Football League Championship winning teams: Ted Drake, Arsenal, centre-forward, 1933–34, 1934–35, 1937–38; Chelsea, manager, 1954–55. Bill Nicholson, Tottenham Hotspur, right half-back, 1950–51, manager, 1960–61. Alf Ramsey, right-back, Tottenham Hotspur, 1950–51, Ipswich Town, manager, 1961–62. Joe Mercer, left-half, Everton 1938–39, Arsenal 1947–48, 1952–53, Manchester City, manager, 1967–68.

Stars of the Past

ALLCHURCH, Ivor (1929–) Swansea City, Newcastle United, Cardiff City, Swansea City, and Wales. Unorthodox inside-forward of constructive ability whose fair hair helped to earn him the title of 'Golden Boy' of Welsh football. He played 19 seasons in League football from 1949 to 1968, making 694 appearances and scoring 251 goals. He remains the most capped Welsh international with 68 appearances.

ARMFIELD, Jimmy (1935–) Blackpool and England. Fast, strong, intelligent full-back who showed tremendous flair for attacking play in the 'overlapping' role. He played for Blackpool from 1954 to 1971, making 568 League appearances, and he won 43 caps, 15 of them as captain. In 1971 he became manager of Bolton Wanderers, and in 1972–73 took his side up into the Second Division.

ASTON, John (1921–) Manchester United and England. Player of great versatility who won 16 England caps at left-back. Started his Old Trafford career as an inside-forward, moved to wing-half and then full-back; also, in emergencies, played at centre-forward. First capped against Wales in 1948, he played twice in the 1950 World Cup, including the ill-fated United States game.

BASTIN, Cliff (1912–) Exeter City, Arsenal, and England. Goalscoring left-winger who began his career as an inside-forward. Signed for Arsenal by Herbert Chapman at 17, he won every honour in the game before he was 21, and earned the nickname 'Boy'. His speed and power of shot brought him 33 First Division goals in 1932–33, still a record for a winger. He won 21 caps before retiring just after the war. Made 367 League appearances, scoring 157 goals.

BARSON, Frank (1891–1968) Barnsley, Aston Villa, Manchester United, Watford, Wigan Borough, and England. Strong skilful centre-half, unjustly more remembered for the number of times he was sent off than for the undoubted quality of his play. Superb exponent of the fashionable attacking centre-half game, he would have won many more than his solitary England cap had it not been for his terrible disciplinary record. Made 353 League appearances.

BARTRAM, Sam (1914–) Charlton Athletic. Extrovert goalkeeper who was most unlucky never to win a cap. A Charlton player for 22 years, he played a record 579 League games for the club. He won a Cup winners medal in 1947 in what was his fourth successive final, having played for Charlton and Millwall (as a guest) in War League Cup finals and in the losing Charlton side of 1946. Later manager of York and Luton before becoming a journalist.

BARNES, Walley (1920–) Arsenal and Wales. Cultured, intelligent full-back who began his football life as an inside-forward with Southampton during the war. Won a League Championship medal in 1948 and a Cup winners medal in 1950, but a serious knee injury in the 1952 final cost Arsenal the chance of beating Newcastle. A regular performer for his country, he was capped 21 times in a playing career of 267 League appearances that ended in 1955.

BASSETT, Billy (1869–1937) West Bromwich Albion and England. Outstanding outside-right in the successful Albion side of the 1890s, he played for the club for 13 years and later became their chairman. He represented his country 16 times, including an unbroken run of seven years against Scotland.

BAXTER, Jim (1939–) Raith Rovers, Rangers, Sunderland, Nottingham Forest, Rangers, and Scotland. Elegant midfield player with a superb left foot. His genius on the field was never matched by his controversial behaviour off it. Forest paid Sunderland £100,000 for him in 1967; eighteen months and 48 games later, he left on a free transfer. In retrospect, his career never really recovered from the moment he broke a leg playing for Rangers in 1964. He won 34 caps, and scored both goals in Scotland's Wembley win in 1963. Made 347 Scottish and Football League appearances.

BEATTIE, Andy (1912–) Preston North End and Scotland. Intelligent left-back who became a key figure in the Scot-filled Preston side of the late thirties. Won Cup losers and winners medals in 1937 and 1938. Gained seven pre-war caps and continued to play in wartime internationals. Later became an astute manager who specialised in 'caretaker' operations. Appointed Scotland team manager for the 1954 World Cup but resigned after a clash with Scottish officials.

BINGHAM, Billy (1931–) Sunderland, Luton Town, Everton, Port Vale, and Northern Ireland. Aggressive winger with a flair for the unexpected and a goal sense that brought him more than 100 League goals in 419 League games. Won a record 56 caps for his country and was in the side that reached the World Cup quarter-finals in 1958. Later he became manager of Southport, Plymouth, and Northern Ireland before migrating to Greece to guide the national side. Returned to England in the summer of 1973 to manage Everton.

BLANCHFLOWER, Danny (1926–) Barnsley, Aston Villa, Tottenham Hotspur, and Northern Ireland. Studious, astute wing-half whose intelligent play made him a master tactician and brilliant leader. He captained Spurs to the first 20th century double in 1961, and captained the Irish side many times in his 56 appearances for his country. His midfield partnership with John White was the platform from which Spurs built arguably the greatest team of the century. Made 553 League appearances.

BLOOMER, Steve (1874–1938) Derby County, Middlesbrough, Derby County, and England. Direct centre-forward with a priceless gift for goalscoring. In a career that stretched from 1892 to 1914, he hit 352 League goals in about 600 games, adding a further 28 in his 23 international appearances – an England record that stood for almost 50 years. He attributed his success to his ability 'to get to the ball first'.

BRITTON, Cliff (1909–) Bristol Rovers, Everton, and England. A thinking wing-half whose career was cut short by the war. Winner of a Cup medal in 1933, he played nine times for England during the thirties. Although the war ended his league-playing days after 271 games, he earned further recognition with his displays for the army. As a manager he took Burnley to the First Division and to Wembley, and later took charge at Everton, Preston, and Hull.

BUCHAN, Charlie (1891–1961) Sunderland, Arsenal, and England. Inside-forward of such individual skill that it was often felt that he was too good to play for England. He played almost 500 First Division games and scored 258 goals, but he was capped only five times. Credited by some sources as inventing the 'third-back game' which was so integral to Arsenal's successes. After retiring in 1928, Buchan found success in broadcasting and journalism.

BURGESS, Ron (1917–) Tottenham Hotspur, Swansea City, and Wales. Left-half and captain of the Spurs 'push-and-run' side of the early fifties. A relentless player, he possessed amazing stamina. He became a fixture in the Wales side after the war, winning 32 caps and holding his place until 1954. Having made his debut in 1938, Burgess was another player whose career was badly disrupted by the hostilities, though he still totalled 343 League appearances.

BUSBY, Sir Matt (1910–) Manchester City, Liverpool, and Scotland. A distinguished wing-half whose playing feats have nevertheless paled in comparison with his managerial achievements at Manchester United. He won a Cup winners medal in 1934; the same year he gained his only Scottish cap. Made 317 League appearances. Under his managership, United triumphed in five League Championships, two F.A. Cups, and the European Cup. He was knighted in 1968 and the following January retired after 23 years in charge. Now a director at Old Trafford.

BYRNE, Roger (1929–1958) Manchester United and England. A converted left-winger, Byrne had developed into a mature left-back of international class when he was killed at Munich. Captain of the 'Busby Babes', he supplemented his cool skills by an astute tactical brain. Won his first cap against Scotland in 1954 and played in all the England games (33 in all) from then until his death.

CAREY, Johnny (1919–) Manchester United, Eire, and Northern Ireland. Versatile footballer who finally settled at full-back after top-level experience in almost all other positions. Cost United only £250 in 1936 and played 304 League games. Captained the Rest of Europe against Great Britain in 1947. Retired in 1953 and embarked on a long and sometimes dramatic managerial career with Blackburn, Everton, Orient, and Forest – clubs that all enjoyed periods of some success under his guidance.

CARTER, Raich (1913–) Sunderland, Derby County, Hull City, and England. Brilliantly gifted inside-forward, as conspicuous on the field by his ball skills and passing ability as by his prematurely silver hair. Won Cup medals with both Sunderland and Derby, netting a vital goal in the 1937 final. He was capped six times in the thirties, but only really established himself as an international star during the war. He won his last caps in 1947. Played 451 League games, scoring 216 goals. Later managed Leeds, Mansfield, and Middlesbrough.

CHARLES, John (1931–) Leeds United, Juventus, Leeds United, Roma, Cardiff City, and Wales. At centre-half or centre-forward, his fearsome power in the air made him a force all over the world. His £65,000 move to Juventus in 1957 started a migration to Italy, but only Charles, of the British players, became, and remains, an idol there. Scorer of over 250 Football and Italian League goals, though he often played as a defender. Represented his country 38 times.

COCKBURN, Henry (1923–) Manchester United and England. Small and aggressive wing-half who shot to fame immediately after the war. After only a handful of League games, he was capped against Ireland in September 1946, going on to win 13 caps over the next 5 years. Cup winners medal in 1948, and League honours in 1952.

COHEN, George (1939–) Fulham and England. Right-back with an imaginative flair for attack and the power and speed to put it into practice. First capped in 1964 against Uruguay, he established a regular place in the England side. He won 37 caps in all, the most important of which came in the Wembley World Cup triumph of 1966. Strong, industrious, and loyal, he was essentially a Ramsey-type player. A knee injury ended his career in 1968 after more than 400 appearances for Fulham.

COLMAN, Eddie (1934–1958) Manchester United. Precocious, consistent wing-half and 'Busby Babe' who lost his life in the Munich tragedy. Stocky and combative, but the possessor of a silky body swerve which earned him the name of 'swivel hips', he was on the verge of a full international cap at the time of his death.

COPPING, Wilf (1909–) Leeds United, Arsenal, and England. Rugged defensive wing-half, feared for the ferocity of his tackling and his aggressive image which was heightened by close-cropped hair and an almost permanent scowl. A leading protagonist in the international against Italy in 1934 that became known as the 'Battle of Highbury'. Gained League and Cup honours with Arsenal and won 19 caps. Made 325 League appearances, all in the thirties.

CRESSWELL, Warney (1894–) South Shields, Sunderland, Everton, and England. Composed left-back whose cool play stemmed from a marvellous positional sense and anticipation. With Everton he gained Second Division, First Division, and Cup winners medals in successive seasons (1931–33). Ten England caps.

CROOKS, Sammy (1909–) Derby County and England. Fast, raiding winger who loved to have a crack at goal, he won a regular place in the England side in the early thirties – at times keeping the young Stanley Matthews on the sidelines. In all he played 26 times for his country. He never won an honour with Derby, being left out of the side that won the Cup in 1946. He retired the following season. 408 League appearances, 102 goals.

CROMPTON, Bob (1879–1941) Blackburn Rovers and England. England's regular right-back from the turn of the century to World War I, he won 41 caps in an age when only three or four internationals were played each season. Solidly built, he was extremely quick on the turn and solid in the tackle, but always his play was characterised by its fairness.

CROSSAN, Johnny (1939–) Sparta Rotterdam, Standard Liège, Sunderland, Manchester City, Middlesbrough, and Northern Ireland. Creative inside-forward whose career in British football began late; a suspension forced him to Holland and Belgium until 1962, although Northern Ireland picked him to play against England in 1959. His incisive play helped both Sunderland and Manchester City into the First Division. Capped 24 times; 232 League games.

CULLIS, Stan (1916–) Wolverhampton Wanderers and England. Strong and skilled centre-half who was the king-pin of the Wolves and England defence in the years up to the war. Made 152 League appearances. Captained England at the age of 22. Just 10 years later he became manager of Wolves, creating a side, built around his belief in the use of the long ball, that carried all before them in the fifties. A strict disciplinarian who gave and demanded all, he was surprisingly sacked in 1964 after 16 years of regular success. Later managed Birmingham City.

DEAN, Bill 'Dixie' (1907–) Tranmere Rovers, Everton, Notts County, and England. Prolific goalscoring centre-forward of legendary power in the air. His total of 60 First Division goals in the 1927–28 season remains a Football League record, and he amassed 379 goals in 437 appearances in his career, including 37 hat-tricks. He played 16 times for England – collecting another 18 goals in the process.

DIMMOCK, Jimmy (1900–1972) Tottenham Hotspur, Thames, Clapton Orient, and England. Individualist left-winger best remembered for his Cup-winning goal that beat Wolves in the 1921 final at Stamford Bridge. Slimly built and perfectly balanced, he remained Spurs' regular outside-left for 12 seasons, yet surprisingly he won only three England caps. 455 League appearances, 115 goals.

DOHERTY, Peter (1914–) Blackpool, Manchester City, Derby County, Huddersfield Town, Doncaster Rovers, and Northern Ireland. Completely skilled inside-forward, regarded by many judges as the greatest player Ireland has ever produced. Won a League Championship medal with Manchester City and a Cup medal with Derby, where he teamed up memorably with Raich Carter. He carried his astute tactical sense into management at Doncaster and Bristol City, and he masterminded Northern Ireland's courageous challenge in the 1958 World Cup. 403 League appearances, 197 goals.

DOUGLAS, Bryan (1935–) Blackburn Rovers and England. Right-winger and later midfield player with exceptional close control and the ability to take on defenders. Played a vital part in Blackburn's promotion to the First Division in 1958 and their Wembley appearance two years later. Capped 36 times, he was England's outside-right in the World Cups of 1958 and 1962, impressing particularly in Chile. 439 League appearances, 102 goals.

DOOLEY, Derek (1929–) Lincoln City and Sheffield Wednesday. Dooley's career, which brought 64 goals in 63 appearances, ended in tragedy in February 1953 when his right leg, broken at Preston, had to be amputated. Tall, gangling, and unsophisticated, he rarely looked a centre-forward, but his ability to score goals manifested itself so consistently that his appearance ceased to be significant. In 1951–52 he scored 46 goals in 30 Division Two games. Later he returned to Wednesday as a development manager and then became team manager.

DICKINSON, Jimmy (1925–) Portsmouth and England. Supremely consistent defensive wing-half who between 1946 and 1965 played 764 League games for Portsmouth, a League record. The level of his play was equally consistent whether as a firm tackler or a sensible user of the ball. Prominent in the Portsmouth Championship sides of 1949 and 1950, he was a regular international for nine seasons, gaining 48 caps.

DUCAT, Andy (1886–1942) Woolwich Arsenal, Aston Villa, and England. Wing-half whose footballing skills were matched by his ability at cricket, at which he was also capped. Captained Villa to success in the first extra time cup final in 1920 and starred in England's 5–4 win over Scotland the same year. Later managed Fulham. Gained six caps between 1910 and 1921.

ECKERSLEY, Bill (1926–) Blackburn Rovers and England. Stocky left-back whose quickness on the turn won him 19 caps, though he was a Second Division player for most of his career. First capped in the 1950 World Cup, his last international (like his partner Alf Ramsey's) was against Hungary at Wembley in November 1953.

EDWARDS, Duncan (1936–1958) Manchester United and England. Though he died after the Munich air crash at the age of 21, Edwards had already proved himself to be a magnificent attacking wing-half. Marvellously powerful, he was at his most exciting carrying the ball forward, always threatening to strike at goal or to slice open a defence with an immense crossfield pass. Played for United at 16, England at 18 and 183 days – still the youngest cap. Made 151 League appearances.

EVANS, Bobby (1928–) Celtic, Chelsea, Newport County, Morton, Third Lanark, Raith Rovers, and Scotland. First at right-half then at the centre of the defence, Evans, red-haired and forceful, won 48 caps. In a 16-year career at Celtic, he won League, League Cup, and Cup honours throughout the fifties. Moved to Chelsea and then had seven seasons with lesser clubs before retirement in 1968.

FLOWERS, Ron (1934–) Wolverhampton Wanderers, Northampton Town, and England. Another dominating half-back whose strength was one of the foundations of Wolves' success in the fifties. Blond and tall, but lacking little in skill and balance, he established a regular place in the England side towards the end of the decade only to lose it just before the World Cup finals of 1966 – though he was in the squad of 22. Later became player-manager at Northampton and in non-League football. 529 League appearances.

FINNEY, Tom (1922–) Preston North End and England. For many the most gifted English forward of all time, he played most of his 76 internationals on the wings. Towards the end of his long and loyal career at Preston – he played 431 League games and scored 187 goals – he gave further proof of his excellent all-round skills in the role of deep-lying centre-forward. Voted Footballer of the Year in 1954 and 1957. Totally selfless with unique skills that were matched by his unerring sportmanship.

FORD, Trevor (1923–) Swansea City, Aston Villa, Sunderland, Cardiff City, PSV Eindhoven, Newport County, and Wales. Brave, aggressive centre-forward for whose services clubs were prepared to pay; his move to Sunderland commanded the first £30,000 fee. Always popular with the crowds, his rugged audacity near goal brought him 38 Welsh caps and 23 international goals. 349 League games, 177 goals.

FOULKES, Bill (1932–) Manchester United and England. United's pre-Munich right-back, Foulkes survived the crash and captained the side at Wembley three months later. His heading skill and physical presence then served the club at the centre of the defence and he has yet to be satisfactorily replaced. His rare goal against Real Madrid took United to their successful European Cup final. Capped once as a full-back in 1954. 563 League appearances, a club record.

FRANKLIN, Neil (1922–) Stoke City, Hull City, Crewe Alexandra, Stockport County, and England. Accomplished defender who was England's centre-half in the first 27 matches after the war. His career was ruined when he illegally joined Colombian club Santa Fe. Returned disillusioned in 1950 to suspension and transfer from Stoke and he never re-established himself. After retirement, had a spell as manager at Colchester. 321 League appearances.

GALLACHER, Hughie (1903–1957) Airdrieonians, Newcastle United, Chelsea, Derby County, Notts County, Grimsby, Gateshead, and Scotland. Centre-forward who, despite being only 5 ft. 6 in., was the complete attacker, his lack of inches rarely handicapping him in the air. Scorer of 387 goals in British League football and capped 19 times by Scotland his fiery temperament and swaggering manner always made him controversial. Tragically committed suicide at the age of 54.

GOODALL, John (1866–1941) Preston North End, Derby County, and England. Goal-scoring forward who overcame a frail physique to play a prominent part in the Preston 'Invincibles' side that performed the first double in 1889. His perceptive skills played a large part in the early formation of tactical play. At Derby he teamed up with Steve Bloomer. Capped 14 times. Later became player-manager at Watford.

GREAVES, Jimmy (1940–) Chelsea, AC Milan, Tottenham Hotspur, West Ham United, and England. Goalscoring prodigy of the fifties who retained a unique knack of accepting chances at the highest levels throughout his career. Scored 357 First Division goals, 492 in all senior matches, before retiring at the premature age of 31. Handicapped by bout of jaundice in 1965, and a shin injury, he lost his place in England's World Cup winning team. Played 57 times for England, scoring 44 goals.

HAGAN, Jimmy (1919–) Derby County, Sheffield United, and England. Inspiring inside-forward who lost his best years to the war. Played many wartime internationals, but won only one official cap, in 1948 against Denmark. Helped Sheffield United into the First Division both before the war and in 1953. Made 391 appearances, scoring 123 goals. Retired to become an outstanding coach and manager at Peterborough, West Bromwich Albion, and latterly Benfica.

HAPGOOD, Eddie (1909–1973) Arsenal and England. Small but technically complete full-back who played 393 First Division games for Arsenal up to the war. A dedicated professional, he became captain of both club and country. Played 30 times for England and earned several more wartime caps. After the war, became manager of Blackburn, Watford, and Bath City.

HARDWICK, George (1921–) Middlesbrough, Oldham Athletic, and England. Elegant full-back who became England's first post-war captain and held the position for 13 games. Also represented Great Britain against the Rest of Europe in 1947. In 1950 moved to Oldham as player-manager, and in the sixties had a spell in charge at Sunderland. 333 League games.

HAYNES, Johnny (1934–) Fulham and England. Dominating inside-forward always remembered for his effortless but exact long-distance passing ability, particularly the reverse pass. For 18 seasons he pulled the strings for Fulham, a loyal servant for almost 600 League games, although he sometimes seemed less than tolerant of those not so gifted. An influential international in 56 games, 22 of them as captain including the 1962 World Cup. Reputedly the first £100-a-week footballer after the abolition of the maximum wage in 1961. Scored 148 League goals.

HITCHENS, Gerry (1934–) Cardiff City, Aston Villa, Inter Milan, Torino, Atalanta, Cagliari, and England. Forceful centre-forward with an unflappable temperament that helped make him such a success in Italy. Joining Inter in 1961 at a time of several exports, he settled easily and scored regularly against massed defences. He won seven England caps, the last two in the 1962 World Cup. In 1969 he returned to England and non-League football.

HULME, Joe (1904–) Blackburn Rovers, Arsenal, Huddersfield Town, and England. Sprinting winger whose directness profited from the long passes of Alex James. Played 333 League games for Arsenal and scored 108 goals. Won League Championship medals in 1931, 1933, and 1935. The only man to play in five Wembley Cup Finals – and appropriately enough the fifth, for Huddersfield in 1938, was his last competitive game.

JACKSON, Alec (1905–1946) Aberdeen, Huddersfield Town, Chelsea, and Scotland. Gifted winger whose hat-trick at Wembley in 1928 spearheaded the success of the Wembley Wizards. His pace and opportunism made an immediate impression in English football, and he won a Championship medal in his first year at Huddersfield. He played in their losing sides at Wembley in 1928 and 1930. Left Chelsea after a dispute and went out of League football at 27. Killed in a road crash in North Africa. Made 278 League appearances, scoring 100 goals.

JAMES, Alex (1902–1953) Raith Rovers, Preston North End, Arsenal, and Scotland. Diminutive inside-forward of classic stature. His two-goal display in the Wembley Wizards match established a reputation that preceded him to Arsenal in 1929. There, he master-minded success after success in the thirties with his incomparable passing and bewildering ability on the ball, despite being severely kicked in every match he played. Prejudice against 'Anglos' meant that he won only eight Scottish caps. 478 Football and Scottish League games, 106 goals.

JONES, Bryn (1912–) Wolverhampton Wanderers, Arsenal, Norwich City, and Wales. When Arsenal paid Wolves £14,000 in 1938, they made Bryn Jones the most expensive player in the game. A sharp, brainy inside-forward from a famous family of footballers, he was bought to succeed Alex James and might have done so but for the war. A regular member of the Welsh forward line in the thirties, he won further caps after the war before retiring in 1950. 257 League games, 60 goals.

JONES, Cliff (1935–) Swansea City, Tottenham Hotspur, Fulham, and Wales. Thrusting winger of devastating speed and infinite bravery who contributed greatly to the Spurs' successes of the early sixties. Always willing and able to run at his full-back, he was at his most exciting leaping salmon-like to high crosses or hurling himself head-first into packed goal areas to score at any physical cost. Capped 59 times for his country. 511 League games, 182 goals.

KELSEY, Jack (1928–) Arsenal and Wales. Completely sound, unspectacular goalkeeper who performed consistently for Arsenal and Wales in the fifties. In 1955, represented Great Britain against the Rest of Europe, and three years later starred in Wales' audacious successes in the Sweden World Cup finals. A back injury sustained in a collision with the Brazilian Vavá ended his career in 1962. He won 41 caps. 327 League games.

LAWTON, Tommy (1919–) Burnley, Everton, Chelsea, Notts County, Brentford, Arsenal, and England. Centre-forward of all-round abilities, but particularly impressive in his timing and power in the air. Succeeded Dixie Dean at Everton and in the England side. Both Everton and later Notts County paid record transfer fees for him. Scored 22 goals in his 23 England appearances, and 231 goals in 390 League games.

LIDDELL, Billy (1922–) Liverpool and Scotland. Direct forward of great physical power who became Liverpool's greatest idol. Aggressive but always fair, he played a record 492 League games for the club, scoring 216 goals. Played for Great Britain in 1947 and 1955 (Matthews was the only other player to do so). Capped 28 times. Combined his playing career with accountancy, and also served as a J.P.

LOFTHOUSE, Nat (1924–) Bolton Wanderers and England. 'The Lion of Vienna', so called after his brave solo run for the winning goal against Austria in 1952. Aggressive centre-forward who scored in the 1953 and 1958 Cup finals, including a controversial second goal against Manchester United when he charged Harry Gregg and the ball over the line. Footballer of the Year in 1953. 30 goals in 33 internationals and 256 League goals in 452 games.

MACAULAY, Archie (1917–) Rangers, West Ham United, Brentford, Arsenal, Fulham, and Scotland. Flame-haired wing-half who combined elegant ball skills with a fiercely competitive temperament. Played for Great Britain against the Rest of Europe in 1947 and would have won many more than his four Scottish caps if it had not been for the war. Managed Norwich City, West Bromwich, and Brighton, taking Third Division Norwich to the F.A. Cup semi-finals in 1959 and then into the Second Division. 291 Scottish and Football League appearances.

McCRACKEN, Bill (1883–) Newcastle United and Ireland. Full-back of great tactical perception whose shrewd play eventually forced the change in the offside law in the twenties. Made 377 League appearances. Won 16 caps for Ireland between 1904 and 1923, but was suspended for over 10 years because of a dispute over payments. Won League and Cup honours before World War I. Later manager of Hull City, Millwall, and Aldershot (during World War II). Still scouting for Watford in his 91st year.

MACKAY, Dave (1936–) Hearts, Tottenham Hotspur, Derby County, Swindon Town, and Scotland. Wing-half and later centre-back of legendary courage and determination who twice suffered a broken leg, but recovered gamely on both occasions. With Hearts and Spurs, he won every honour in the game before moving to Derby in 1968. There his commanding presence immediately lifted County into the First Division, where he continued to dominate match after match despite his advancing years. Later manager of Swindon Town and now Nottingham Forest. 541 League games and 22 caps.

McILROY, Jimmy (1931–) Burnley, Stoke City, Oldham Athletic, and Northern Ireland. Inside-forward with tremendous creative skills. Did not miss a Home International between November 1951 and November 1960, winning 55 caps in all and sparking the Irish challenge in Sweden in 1958. With Jimmy Adamson he masterminded Burnley's Championship success in 1960, and later helped Stoke City back into the First Division. Made 567 League appearances.

McWILLIAM, Peter (1882–) Newcastle United and Scotland. Strong left-half in the great Newcastle team of the first decade of the century. Won F.A. Cup runners-up medals in 1906 and 1908, and a winners medal in 1910. A serious injury sustained whilst playing for Scotland against Wales in 1911 – his eighth cap – ended his career, but he became an exceptional manager with Spurs and Middlesbrough. Became chief scout to Arsenal in the thirties.

MANNION, Wilf (1919–) Middlesbrough, Hull City, and England. Deft, skilful inside-forward who had a flair for dribbling through defences to score as well as the scheming strategy to create goals for others. Played in 26 internationals from 1946 to 1951, including the 1950 World Cup. Loyal to Middlesbrough, he played 341 League games for them, scoring 99 goals, and completed his League century during his one season (16 games) at Hull.

MATTHEWS, Sir Stanley (1915–) Stoke City, Blackpool, Stoke City, and England. Shuffling winger who became a legend both for his mesmeric ability to beat full-backs and cross, and for his 33-year playing career. Nicknamed the Wizard of Dribble. On the losing side at Wembley in 1948 and 1951, he won his Cup winners medal in the 'Matthews Final' of 1953, making the last-minute winner. European Footballer of the Year in 1956, and England's Footballer of the Year in 1948 and 1963. 54 Caps between 1934 and 1957. Made 698 League appearances, the last at 49 years old. Knighted in 1965.

MERCER, Joe (1915–) Everton, Arsenal, and England. Bandy-legged wing-half who showed flair in attack and solidity in defence and who was also an inspiring captain. Won five caps in the first post-war season, but after the war Everton let him go for a mere £6,000. Reborn at Arsenal, he led them to one Cup and two League triumphs before a broken leg ended his career in 1954. Played 417 League games. Manager at Sheffield United and Villa then later with much success at Manchester City. Now manager at Coventry.

MEREDITH, Billy (1875–1958) Manchester City, Manchester United, Manchester City, and Wales. Exceptional winger who was undoubtedly the Matthews of his day. Famed for playing with a toothpick in his mouth, he attacked classically down the touchline but could also cut in and score. Two League Championship medals (1908 and 1911) and two Cup medals (1904 and 1909). Made 670 League appearances, the last, like Matthews, at the age of 49. Capped 48 times between 1895 and 1920.

MILBURN, Jackie (1924–) Newcastle United and England. Centre-forward, from a famous footballing family, blessed with speed of foot and of shot. Remembered with great affection on Tyneside as 'Wor Jackie'. Won three Cup medals in the fifties – scoring two spectacular goals in the 1951 final and one in the 1955 triumph. Altogether played 354 League games for his only club, scoring 179 goals. Won 13 caps for England and scored 10 international goals. Later manager at Ipswich in succession to Alf Ramsey.

MORTENSEN, Stan (1921–) Blackpool, Hull City, Southport, and England. Powerful forward whose determination to succeed overcame lack of speed in his early career. Cup losers medals in 1948 (when he scored in every round including the final) and 1951. Winners medal in the 'Matthews Final' when he became the only player to score a hat-trick in a Wembley final. Capped 25 times and scored 23 goals – the most memorable from an impossible angle in Turin. Made 395 League appearances and scored 225 goals.

MORTON, Alan (1896–1971) Queen's Park, Rangers, and Scotland. A winger only 5 ft. 4 in. tall and nicknamed the 'Wee Blue Devil', Morton was the highest paid player of his day. Totally elusive, but always direct and alive to the needs of his team, he was a master crosser of the ball. His crosses led to all three of Alex Jackson's goals in the Wembley Wizards match. In an international career from 1920 to 1932 he missed only one game, winning 31 caps. Made around 500 Scottish League appearances and won nine Championship medals.

PENNINGTON, Jesse (1884–) West Bromwich Albion and England. Full-back of skill and speed who played 23 pre-war internationals, all in partnership with Bob Crompton. Won two more caps after the war at the age of 36, and the same season captained Albion to the First Division Championship. Made 455 League appearances for Albion and won a Cup runners-up medal in 1912. Renowned for his sportsmanship.

PEACOCK, Bertie (1930–) Celtic and Northern Ireland. Made 318 League appearances for Celtic, first at inside-forward and later as a persistent and whole-hearted wing-half. A key figure in Ireland's win at Wembley in 1957 and in the World Cup a year later. Won 31 caps and later became the Irish team manager. Won Cup, League Cup, and Championship honours with Celtic.

RAMSEY, Sir Alf (1920–) Southampton, Tottenham Hotspur, and England. Calculated, thinking full-back who later became, as England's team manager, one of the most influential strategists in the game's history. Played only nine seasons of League football, making 316 appearances and winning a Championship medal in 1951. Nicknamed 'The General' for his cool, assertive style, he won 32 caps. Retired in 1955 to manage Ipswich Town, taking them from the Third Division (South) to the League title by 1962. Left to manage England with equal success, carrying out his prophecy by winning the 1966 World Cup. Knighted in 1967.

REVIE, Don (1926–) Leicester City, Hull City, Manchester City, Sunderland, Leeds United, and England. Well-built, resourceful inside-forward who gave his name to the 'Revie plan', a successful Manchester City version of the Hungarian deep-lying centre-forward tactic. With City he won his six caps and Cup winners and losers medals. Footballer of the Year in 1955. Dedicated and extremely successful manager of Leeds United, leading his team to wins in the F.A. Cup, League Cup, League Championship, and Fairs Cup.

ROBERTS, Herbie (1905–1944) Arsenal and England. Famous as the first defensive or 'stopper' centre-half in the 'third-back' game used by manager Herbert Chapman at Arsenal. This earned Roberts the nickname of 'Policeman', so tightly did he stick to opposing forwards. Capped once against Scotland in 1931. Cup winners medal in 1936. Four League Championship medals.

ROWLEY, Arthur (1926–) West Bromwich Albion, Fulham, Leicester City, and Shrewsbury Town. Football League record goalscorer with 434 goals in 619 League matches. Tall and muscular with a particulary powerful left foot, he led the League lists in 1953 with 39 goals and in 1957 with 44. Retired in 1965 to manage Shrewsbury and then became joint-manager at Sheffield United before moving to Southend.

SCOTT, Elisha (1893–1959) Liverpool and Northern Ireland. Long-serving goalkeeper with a marvellous sense of anticipation; famed for his rivalry with Dixie Dean in the Merseyside derbies. Made 428 League appearances between 1913 and 1933 and played 31 games for his country, all against 'home' opposition. League winners medals in 1922 and 1923. Left Liverpool to play for and later manage Belfast Celtic, continuing to run the club for eight years after the team disbanded in 1948.

SHACKLETON, Len (1922–) Bradford (P.A.), Newcastle United, Sunderland, and England. Suberbly individualistic inside-forward whose rebellious nature earned him the nickname of the 'Clown Prince of Soccer' (the title of his autobiography). Unloved by officials, he won only five caps, despite scoring an electrifying solo goal in his last match against West Germany. Scored six goals on his Newcastle debut in 1946. Made 384 League appearances.

SHANKLY, Bill (1915–) Carlisle United, Preston North End, and Scotland. Superbly fit and wholly dedicated wing-half who brought the same qualities to bear in a distinguished managerial career. Won a Cup medal in 1938. Made 312 League appearances and won five caps just before the war. Learnt the job of manager at Carlisle, Grimsby, Workington, and Huddersfield before joining Liverpool in 1959. At Anfield his relentless drive and enthusiasm have fashioned three League Championship winning sides and a club that has rarely been out of the running for honours.

STEEL, Billy (1923–) Morton, Derby County, Dundee, and Scotland. Graceful inside-forward who had a meteoric rise to fame. A surprise selection for Scotland against England in 1947, he did so well that he was picked to play for Great Britain the next month, and later that summer Derby paid a record £15,000 for him. Made 212 Football and Scottish League appearances and won 30 caps. Retired in 1954 and surprisingly emigrated to Los Angeles.

STEPHENSON, Clem (1891–1961) Aston Villa, Huddersfield Town, and England. Distinguished forward with Villa just before and after World War I, he was given a new lease of life as midfield general of the all-conquering Huddersfield side of the twenties. Hat-trick of Championship medals, 1924–26, Cup winners medals in 1913, 1920 (both with Villa) and 1922, runners-up medal in 1928. Won his only cap in 1924. Made 438 League appearances, scoring 127 goals.

SWIFT, Frank (1915–1958) Manchester City and England. Immensely popular and spectacular goalkeeper who died at Munich, covering the match for the News of the World. He had huge hands that enabled him to pull off breath-taking one-handed saves. Played 19 times for England in the immediate post-war period, twice captaining the side. Won a Cup winners medal in 1934 and a League Championship medal three years later. Played 338 games for Manchester City.

TRAUTMANN, Bert (1923–) Manchester City. Ex-German POW who succeeded Swift in the City goal and became equally loved. Extremely brave, he played through the closing minutes of the 1956 Cup final with a broken neck to help City to victory. Runners-up medal the previous season. Footballer of the Year in 1956. Made 508 League appearances, a club record, between 1949 and 1964.

VERNON, Roy (1937–) Blackburn Rovers, Everton, Stoke City, Halifax Town, and Wales. Slim but highly competitive inside-forward who could finish moves as well as initiate them. Helped Blackburn into Division One before moving to Everton for £20,000 in 1960. Starred in their Championship win in 1963. Found fresh inspiration later in the decade in a Stoke side full of experienced players. Won 32 Welsh caps between 1957 and 1967. 398 League appearances, 171 goals.

VIZARD, Ted (1889–) Bolton Wanderers and Wales. Exciting winger with the running fluency of a rugby wing three-quarter (which he also was). Nicknamed 'Vizard the Wizard'. Played on Bolton's left-wing for 21 seasons, including the first Wembley final in 1923 and Bolton's second Wembley success in 1926. Made 466 League appearances, scoring 66 goals. 22 caps between 1910 and 1926. Later successful manager at Swindon, Queens Park Rangers, and Wolves.

WADDELL, Willie (1921–) Rangers and Scotland. Powerful, direct winger whose career was badly interrupted by the war. Came to prominence in wartime internationals and became Scotland's regular outside-right into the fifties, winning 17 caps. Won four Scottish League Championship medals and made 196 League appearances. As a manager he masterminded a successful Kilmarnock side that won the League in 1965. Returned from journalism to manage Rangers in 1969.

WALDEN, Fanny (1888–1949) Tottenham Hotspur, Northampton Town, and England. At 5 ft. 2½ in., one of the smallest players to succeed in top-class sport; he also played professional cricket. Weighing less than nine stone, he was a winger with the skills to nip past the heavy full-backs of the day. Capped twice, once in 1914 and again in 1922. Made 233 League appearances, scoring 23 goals.

WEDLOCK, Billy (1881–1965) Bristol City and England. Non-stop attacking centre-half renowned for his perpetual energy. Only 5 ft. 5 in., he was well-built and nicknamed 'Fatty' but he became one of the most influential players of the pre-World War I era. Won 26 caps and travelled to South Africa, Austria, Hungary, and Bohemia at a time when foreign matches were rare. Loyal to Bristol City, he made 362 appearances for them, including a losing Cup final in 1909.

WEAVER, Sam (1909–) Hull City, Newcastle United, Chelsea, Stockport County, and England. Outstanding wing-half best remembered for his long throw-ins although he was a fine all-round player. Cost Newcastle the then large fee of £2,500 in 1929 and scored on his debut. Won three caps in the thirties and a Cup winners medal in 1932. Made 370 League appearances, scoring 49 goals. A fast bowler for Derbyshire, he attributed his throwing power to the muscles built up on the cricket field.

WHITE, John (1937–1964) Falkirk, Tottenham Hotspur, and Scotland. Slightly-built inside-forward of rare talent who died tragically, struck by lightning on a golf course. A creative player in the classic vein; his harmony with Danny Blanchflower proved the inspiration of the great Spurs side of the sixties. In just under five seasons in London, he won League, Cup, and Cup-winners Cup honours. First capped surprisingly at centre-forward, he played 22 internationals and was still a regular when he died. Made over 200 Football and Scottish league appearances.

WILLIAMS, Bert (1922–) Walsall, Wolverhampton Wanderers, and England. Acrobatic goalkeeper and a fine student of his profession. His magnificent display of agility against Italy in 1949 preserved the unbeaten home record against foreign opposition (excluding Eire). He won 24 caps, playing in the disastrous 1950 World Cup but oddly was left out in 1954; he was recalled the following season. Made 406 League appearances, winning Cup honours in 1949 and a League medal in 1954. Later opened a school for goalkeepers.

WILSON, Andy (1897–) Middlesbrough, Dunfermline Athletic, Middlesbrough, Chelsea, and Scotland. Free-scoring forward bought by Chelsea for £6,500 after topping the First Division goal charts at Middlesbrough. In 1922, he hit 31 League goals and in one 12-month period scored 121 times, including 62 on the Scottish tour of Canada and the United States. Capped 10 times between 1920 and 1923.

WILSON, Ray (1935–) Huddersfield Town, Everton, Oldham Athletic, Bradford City, and England. Quick, decisive defender with exceptional creative skills, he became England's most-capped full-back, playing in 63 internationals. Totally consistent in the World Cup of 1966, he won his World Cup medal just three months after an F.A. Cup triumph at Wembley. Cost Everton £40,000 in 1964. Made 405 League appearances in a career eventually terminated by a succession of injuries.

WOODWARD, Vivian (1879–1954) Tottenham Hotspur, Chelsea, and England. Graceful centre-forward who remained an amateur throughout his career but stood comparison with striking forwards of all time. Played in non-League football until 1909, but won 16 of his 23 full caps in that period; he scored 29 times in internationals. Also played in 44 amateur internationals, hitting a further 58 goals and winning Olympic gold medals in 1908 and 1912. Made 133 League appearances.

WRIGHT, Billy (1924–) Wolverhampton Wanderers and England. Stocky, blond half-back and enthusiastic winner of the ball, whose immense stature in the game is reflected by his 105 caps. He captained his country a record 90 times and led his club to League titles in 1954, 1958, and 1959. At his best at centre-half where his lack of height (5 ft. 8 in.) was never a handicap. Physical, but always fair, he was, through his dedication and enthusiasm, a perfect advert for football. Made 490 League appearances; Footballer of the Year in 1952. Later managed Arsenal before moving into television.

YOUNG, George (1922–) Rangers and Scotland. Massive defender who despite his six-foot, 15-stone frame had the balance and nimbleness of a much smaller man. Regular at either right-back or centre-half for Scotland, he won 53 caps, many of them as captain. Made 293 League appearances for Rangers, winning six League Championship, four Cup, and two League Cup medals. Later managed Third Lanark and Scotland.

World Cup 1974

World Cup Results 1930 to 1970

The FIFA World Cup 1974

Because the 16-finalists system has been retained for the 1974 World Cup, there is room for only 14 teams in the tournament alongside the hosts and the holders (West Germany and Brazil). With the Europeans insisting on having no less than ten finalists, South America wanting four, and one place each having to be allocated to Central and North America, Asia, and Africa, there was obviously going to be one country too many. Consequently FIFA decided that the winners of the European Group 9 should play-off for a place with the winners of the South American Group 3.

The major difference in the 1974 tournament is that there will be no sudden-death knock-out games in the quarter-finals and semi-finals. Instead, once the initial groups are completed, two further four-team groups will play off, the winners of each group meeting in the final in Munich on July 7. The runners-up in each group will contest the bronze medals the day before at the same venue.

Brazil, the holders, will open the final stages with a game in Frankfurt on Thursday, June 13. They will play in Group Two, while West Germany, the host nation, will be in Group One. Nine cities will stage the tournament, and the stadiums, with ground capacities are: WEST BERLIN, Olympic Stadium (77,000); STUTTGART, Neckar Stadium (66,000); MUNICH, Olympic Stadium (76,000); DUSSELDORF, Rhein Stadium (70,000); GELSENKIRCHEN, Park Stadium (70,000); DORTMUND, Westfallen Stadium (54,000); FRANKFURT, Wald Stadium (65,000); HANOVER, Niedersachsen Stadium (62,000); HAMBURG, Volkspark Stadium (62,000).

Programme

	Group One	Group Two	Group Three	Group Four
Thursday 13.6.74		Frankfurt
Friday 14.6.74	Berlin Hamburg	Dortmund
Saturday 15.6.74			Dusseldorf Hanover	Munich Stuttgart
Tuesday 18.6.74	Berlin Hamburg	Gelsenkirchen Frankfurt
Wednesday 19.6.74			Dortmund Hanover	Munich Stuttgart
Saturday 22.6.74	Berlin Hamburg	Gelsenkirchen Frankfurt
Sunday 23.6.74			Dortmund Dusseldorf	Munich Stuttgart

Quarter-Finals and Semi-Finals are not knock-out ties. Instead the winners and runners-up in the above groups will play off in two new groupings, as follows:

GROUP A:
Winner Group 3 v Runner-up Group 4 (Gelsenkirchen, 26.6.74)
Runner-up Group 2 v Winner Group 1 (Hanover, 26.6.74)
Winner Group 1 v Winner Group 3 (Gelsenkirchen, 30.6.74)
Runner-up Group 4 v Runner-up Group 2 (Hanover, 30.6.74)
Winner Group 3 v Runner-up Group 2 (Dortmund, 3.7.74)
Runner-up Group 4 v Winner Group 1 (Gelsenkirchen, 3.7.74)

GROUP B:
Winner Group 2 v Runner-up Group 1 (Dusseldorf, 26.6.74)
Runner-up Group 3 v Winner Group 4 (Stuttgart, 26.6.74)
Runner-up Group 1 v Runner-up Group 3 (Dusseldorf, 30.6.74)
Winner Group 4 v Winner Group 2 (Frankfurt, 30.6.74)
Runner-up Group 3 v Winner Group 2 (Dusseldorf, 3.7.74)
Winner Group 4 v Runner-up Group 1 (Frankfurt, 3.7.74)

Their playing careers over and the farewells made, the Charlton brothers make their first public appearance together as managers at the Bell's Scotch Whisky Football Managers Awards luncheon in London.

The two faces of football. A jubilant Martin Peters and Martin Chivers express England's relief following Peters' goal that beat Scotland and brought England the British International Championship. Holton and goalkeeper Hunter show their despair.

Derek Johnstone might prefer beer to champagne, but all the Rangers players and manager Jock Wallace (second right) certainly have something to celebrate. They've won the Scottish Cup and beaten arch-rivals Celtic into the bargain.

Ralph Coates has every reason to smile. Brought on as substitute in the League Cup final, he scored the only goal of the match against Norwich, ensuring Spurs' second League Cup win in three years.

Derby's Kevin Hector (right) doesn't seem able to make much progress in this clash with Juventus players Bettega (left) and Salvadore in the European Cup semi-final first leg. Juventus won the tie 3-1.

1972–73 was an important season for this man, David Nish. In August he became the most expensive player in England, being transferred from Leicester to Derby for £225,000, and in May he won his first England cap.

Derek Dougan of Wolves, seen here with his wife Jutta, is a picture of elegance both on and off the field. He enjoyed a great season with his club, and topped the poll as England's best-dressed man.

Norman Burtenshaw retired in May, having established himself as one of the game's greatest referees. He is pictured here keeping the roses in order in his garden, possibly an easier task than controlling a football match.

Early in the Arsenal v Liverpool match at Highbury in September, linesman Dennis Drewitt tore a leg muscle, and Jimmy Hill, himself a qualified referee, came down from his seat in the press box to take over.

The F.A. Challenge Trophy final at Wembley. Scarborough's goalkeeper, Garrow, is pictured taking the ball under pressure. His efforts were well rewarded, for Scarborough beat Wigan Athletic 2-1.

Members of the victorious Walton and Hersham team with the F.A. Amateur Cup, which they won by defeating Slough 1-0 at Wembley. Goalscorer Roger Connell, who works as a male model, is holding the cup.

Queen's Park Rangers' manager Gordon Jago (centre) is leaned on by players Venables, Givens, and Bowles. He'll be leaning on them a lot harder as they face the tough challenge of the First Division in 1973–74.

The 1972–73 season was a good one for manager Jimmy Armfield (above). His team, Bolton Wanderers, won the Third Division Championship in fine style, and he personally was named as Third Division Manager of the Year.

The English First Division is reputedly the hardest in the world, and the effort that top-flight players have to put into their training is mirrored here in the face of Chelsea's Chris Garland.

It's behind you! Ted MacDougall of West Ham is sandwiched between Palace players Tony Taylor and Bobby Bell in their match at Selhurst Park in March. MacDougall found the ball – and the net – in West Ham's 3-1 victory.

Billy Meredith of Manchester City pictured playing against Brighton around the turn of the century. A brilliant winger, and, like Matthews in later years, he did not retire until he was 49.

European Footballer of the Year 1972

Whenever some budding reporter asks Ferenc Puskas such fatuous questions as: 'Who was the greatest goalkeeper you played against?' or 'Who is the best footballer today?' the maestro flares up. 'There is no such thing in football as the greatest. You must say first in which position, against what kind of opposition. There have been, and still are, several brilliant players, but one cannot pick the best—football is not like a beauty queen contest.' Nevertheless, choosing world teams and best footballers seems to be the favourite pastime of many football writers.

There is a very popular yearly poll organised by France Football magazine to elect the European Player of the Year. Twenty-six sports journalists from as many different countries vote for five players each in order of merit, and the eventual result is decided by a points system. The weakness of this voting method is that players constantly in the international limelight have a distinct advantage, and it is fair to say that the 1972 winner, Franz Beckenbauer, clinched this coveted 'Golden Ball' award with his brilliant displays in the European Championship. Nevertheless, the West German captain was a truly worthy recipient of the highest recognition. Indeed, the accolade is long overdue.

Beckenbauer was born on November 9 1945, and after playing in the '1906 Munchen' school team, he joined Bayern at the age of 13. He made an immediate impact on world football during the 1966 World Cup and has been an established international ever since. At 27 he has already won well over 60 caps and looks certain to pass the German record of 72 caps, held by Uwe Seeler. The tributes heaped upon him by the voting journalists emphasised his individual style, his perfect ball control, his elegance, vision, and flair. I will go a step further. As I see it, Beckenbauer revolutionised the role of sweeper or free back—in the same way that Hidegkuti once added a new dimension to the centre forward position.

The complete all-rounder, Franz Beckenbauer finds space with deceptively deliberate runs, is always creative when on the ball, and is not only an effective defender but a dangerous attacker too. His example encourages other essentially defensive players to be more constructive and adventurous. This marvellously gifted player represents what is best in modern football—a vote for him is a declaration of faith in the future of the game.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE COMPETITION

Although competed for annually only between the winners of the European Cup and its South American equivalent – the Copa Libertadores de America – this all embracing title does concern the two leading and most commercialised football continents in the world.

It was not until the South Americans started their own cup competition specifically to provide a challenger for the European winners in 1960 that the World Club Championship was launched. In the early years there was little hint of the unhappy incidents which have subsequently grown into an all too familiar tradition.

In the 13 competitions to date, the South Americans have had the edge with seven victories to six, and it is perhaps significant in view of the passions which this tournament has aroused that only two non-Latin clubs, Feyenoord and Ajax, have managed to win it.

In keeping with the rather haphazard arrangement and non-official blessing given it, the manner of determining the final has been most unsatisfactory. Until recently it was played on a two-leg basis, but no account was taken of the aggregate score. In order to win, a team had to win both matches, or win one and draw the other. At first, if each team won one game, a play-off was held on the ground of the team playing the second leg at home. This much-criticised rule made the original draw for the competition disproportionately important, and although the rule determining the venue for the play-off was changed in 1964, the aggregate score over two matches did not decide a final until the rules were further amended in 1969, and even after 1964 the play-off still had to be held in the continent of the second leg home team.

Real Madrid defeated Penarol (Uruguay) in the initial tournament in 1960, at a time when Real were on the crest of their European Cup successes. The Uruguayans were able to turn the tables in 1966, by which time the old Real Madrid team had largely disappeared.

The first taste of serious altercation came during the 1963 final between Santos (Brazil) and AC Milan (Italy). A player from each side was sent off in the play-off, which Santos won. However, the real trouble came in 1967 when Celtic went to Buenos Aires for the second game with Racing Club (Argentina). Even before the match Celtic's goalkeeper Ronnie Simpson was knocked out by a missile from the crowd and took no part in the game, and during the match the Argentinians employed the most ruthless tactics to ensure a 2-1 victory. Jimmy Johnstone, in particular, proved too elusive for them to combat by fair means, and seemed to be their special target. The play-off was held in Montevideo, and Johnstone, who had to wash the spittle out of his hair at half-time, was one of four Celtic men sent off, along with two Argentinians. Celtic lost 1-0, and although both sides had behaved badly, the difference in attitude between the clubs was clearly indicated after the match. Celtic fined each of their players £250, while the victorious Argentinians were each presented with a new car!

The following year was scarcely any better. Another Argentinian side, Estudiantes de La Plata, was involved with Manchester United. United lost the first leg 1-0 in Buenos Aires. During the match Nobby Stiles merely raised his hands in amazement when a linesman quite wrongly judged him to be offside, and was sent off as a result. Bobby Charlton was another sufferer, having to have several stitches in his leg after being kicked by Pachame. In the second leg George Best and Medina were sent off for fighting, and the match ended in a 1-1 draw, thus giving the Championship to Estudiantes. Perhaps the most sickening incident in this match came when, as a result of a United attack, the ball quite clearly crossed the Argentinians' goal-line by a margin of about two feet. Even the Estudiantes players admitted after the game that it should have been a goal, but the Old Trafford crowd and the millions watching on television could do nothing but watch in amazement as the referee waved play on after a defender kicked the ball out again.

AC Milan suffered even more at the hands of Estudiantes the following year, when, with a comfortable three-goal lead from the first leg, they fell foul of their opponents in Buenos Aires. Their Argentinian-born centre-forward Nestor Combin had his nose broken, and as a result of this and other unsavoury incidents three Estudiantes players received lengthy suspensions by order of the country's president.

However, the same Argentinian club managed to get through to the final again the following year, helped no doubt by the strange South American rule that the winner of the Copa Libertadores de America gets automatic admission to the semi-final of the competition in the following season. On this occasion it was Feyenoord's turn to be roughed up, and largely as a result of this Ajax Amsterdam refused to meet Nacional of Uruguay in the 1971 final. Eventually Panathinaikos, the beaten European Cup finalists, agreed to play, and unfortunately lost a player with a broken leg in the first match – but it must be said that although the player who caused the injury was sent off, it was one of very few bad incidents.

The 1972 qualifiers were Ajax Amsterdam, who won the European Cup for the second year in succession, and Independiente (Argentina) from the South American Cup. It was particularly satisfying for Independiente to reach the final, because for the first time in many years the strong Brazilian clubs also entered the competition. The first leg of the final was a disappointing spectacle. Independiente were so rough on their opponents during the first half that the Ajax squad nearly refused to come on to the field for the second half. Brilliant striker Johann Cruyff was one of the players who suffered most, sustaining an injury that lingered on for some time afterwards. In contrast, the second leg in Amsterdam was relatively peaceful, and Ajax won the contest 4-1 on aggregate.

Sir Stanley Rous, president of FIFA, has always been in favour of broadening the competition to include the winners of the African and Asian Cups, and such a move would certainly be logical in a competition entitled the 'World' Club Championship. But until stricter measures can be taken under the present set-up, there seems little point in developing hostilities on a really world-wide scale.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE CUP FINAL 1971–72

When the two legs of the 1971–72 final were held in April 1972, the result was a draw 2-2, and because of the heavy fixture congestion both teams were experiencing at the time, the play-off was held over until the beginning of the 1972–73 season. At the end of 90 minutes the score was 1-1, and the extra time played still did not produce a winner. The score was then 2-2. The match was decided on penalties, with Barnet scoring seven penalties to Hereford's six.

LAW 1

THE FIELD OF PLAY

The Field of Play and appurtenances shall be as shown in the following plan:

(1) Dimensions. The field of play shall be rectangular, its length being not more than 130 yards nor less than 100 yards and its breadth not more than 100 yards nor less than 50 yards. (In International Matches the length shall be not more than 120 yards nor less than 110 yards and the breadth not more than 80 yards nor less than 70 yards.) The length shall in all cases exceed the breadth.

(2) Marking. The field of play shall be marked with distinctive lines, not more than 5 inches in width, not by a V-shaped rut, in accordance with the plan, the longer boundary lines being called the touch-lines and the shorter the goal-lines. A flag on a post not less than 5 feet high and having a non-pointed top, shall be placed at each corner; a similar flag-post may be placed opposite the halfway-line on each side of the field of play, not less than 1 yard outside the touch-line. A halfway-line shall be marked out across the field of play. The centre of the field of play shall be indicated by a suitable mark and a circle with a 10 yards radius shall be marked round it.

(3) The Goal-area. At each end of the field of play two lines shall be drawn at right-angles to the goal-line, 6 yards from each goal-post. These shall extend into the field of play for a distance of 6 yards and shall be joined by a line drawn parallel with the goal-line. Each of the spaces enclosed by these lines and the goal-line shall be called a goal-area.

(4) The Penalty-area. At each end of the field of play two lines shall be drawn at right-angles to the goal-line, 18 yards from each goal-post. These shall extend into the field of play for a distance of 18 yards and shall be joined by a line drawn parallel with the goal-line. Each of the spaces enclosed by these lines and the goal-line shall be called a penalty-area. A suitable mark shall be made within each penalty-area, 12 yards from the mid-point of the goal-line, measured along an undrawn line at right angles thereto. These shall be the penalty-kick marks. From each penalty-kick mark an arc of a circle, having a radius of 10 yards, shall be drawn outside the penalty-area.

(5) The Corner-area. From each corner-flag post a quarter circle, having a radius of 1 yard, shall be drawn inside the field of play.

(6) The Goals. The goals shall be placed on the centre of each goal-line and shall consist of two upright posts, equidistant from the corner-flags and 8 yards apart (inside measure ment), joined by a horizontal cross-bar the lower edge of which shall be 8 feet. from the ground. The width and depth of the goal-posts and the width and depth of the cross-bars shall not exceed 5 inches (12 cm.). The goal-posts and the cross-bars shall have the same width.

Nets may be attached to the posts, cross-bars and ground behind the goals. They should be appropriately supported and be so placed as to allow the goalkeeper ample room.

LAW 2
THE BALL

The ball shall be spherical: the outer casing shall be of leather or other approved materials. No material shall be used in its construction which might prove dangerous to the players.

The circumference of the ball shall not be more than 28 inches and not less than 27 inches. The weight of the ball at the start of the game shall not be more than 16 oz. nor less than 14 oz. = 396 to 453 grammes. The pressure shall be equal to one atmosphere, which equals 15 lb/sq in. (= 1 kg/cm^2) at sea level. The ball shall not be changed during the game unless authorised by the Referee.

LAW 3
NUMBER OF PLAYERS

(1) A match shall be played by two teams, each consisting of not more than eleven players, one of whom shall be the goalkeeper.

(2) Substitutes may be used in any match played under the rules of a competition, subject to the following conditions:

(a) that the authority of the international association(s) or national association(s) concerned, has been obtained.

(b) that, subject to the restriction contained in the following paragraph (c) the rules of a competition shall state how many, if any, substitutes may be used, and

(c) that a team shall not be permitted to use more than two substitutes in any match.

(3) Substitutes may be used in any other match, provided that the two teams concerned reach agreement on a maximum number, not exceeding five, and that the terms of such agreement are intimated to the referee, before the match. If the referee is not informed, or if the teams fail to reach agreement, no more than two substitutes shall be permitted.

(4) Any of the other players may change places with the goalkeeper, provided that the referee is informed before the change is made, and provided also, that the change is made during a stoppage in the game.

(5) When a goalkeeper or any other player is to be replaced by a substitute, the following conditions shall be observed:

(a) the referee shall be informed of the proposed substitution, before it is made,

(b) the substitute shall await a signal from the referee before entering the field of play,

(c) he shall enter the field during a stoppage in the game, and at the half-way line, and

(d) play shall not be re-started until the player who has been replaced has left the field.

Punishment. Any player who infringes this Law shall be cautioned.

LAW 4
PLAYERS' EQUIPMENT

A player shall not wear anything which is dangerous to another player. Boots must conform to the following standard:

(a) Bars shall be made of leather or rubber and shall be transverse and flat, not less than half an inch in width and shall extend the total width of the boot and be rounded at the corners.

(b) Studs shall be made of leather, rubber, aluminium, plastic or similar material and shall be solid. With the exception of that part of the stud forming the base, which shall not protrude from the sole, more than one quarter of an inch, studs shall be round in plan and not less than half an inch in diameter. Where studs are tapered, the minimum diameter of any section of the stud must not be less than half an inch. Where metal seating for the screw type is used, this seating must be embedded in the sole of the boot and any attachment screw shall be part of the stud. Other than the metal seating for the screw type of stud, no metal plates even though covered with leather or rubber shall be worn, neither studs which are threaded to allow them to be screwed on to a base screw that is fixed by nails or otherwise to the soles of boots, nor studs which, apart from the base, have any form of protruding edge rim, or relief marking, or ornament, should be allowed.

(c) Combined bars and studs may be worn, provided the whole conforms to the general requirements of this law. Neither bars nor studs on the soles or heels shall project more than three-quarters of an inch. If nails are used they shall be driven in flush with the surface.

(N.B.—The usual equipment of a player consists of a jersey or shirt, shorts, stockings and boots. A goalkeeper shall wear colours which distinguish him from the other players.)

Punishment. For any infringement of this Law, the player at fault shall be sent off the field of play to adjust his equipment and he shall not return without first reporting to the Referee, who shall satisfy himself that the player's equipment is in order; the player shall only re-enter the game at a moment when the ball has ceased to be in play.

REFEREES

A Referee shall be appointed to officiate in each game. He shall:

(a) Enforce the Laws and decide any disputed point. His decision on points of fact connected with the play shall be final so far as the result of the game is concerned. His jurisdiction begins from the time he signals for the kick-off, and his power of penalising shall extend to offences committed when play has been temporarily suspended or when the ball is out of play. He shall, however, refrain from penalising in cases where he is satisfied that by doing so he would be giving an advantage to the offending team.

(b) Keep a record of the game; act as timekeeper and allow the full or agreed time, adding thereto all time lost through accident or other cause.

(c) Have discretionary power to stop the game for any infringement of the Laws and to suspend or terminate the game whenever, by reasons of the elements, interference by spectators, or other cause, he deems such stoppage necessary. In such a case he shall submit a detailed report to the competent authority, within the stipulated time, and in accordance with the provisions set up by the National Association under whose jurisdiction the match was played. Reports will be deemed to be made when received in the ordinary course of post.

(d) Caution any player guilty of misconduct or ungentlemanly behaviour and, if he persists, to suspend him from further participation in the game. In such cases the Referee shall send the name of the offender to the competent authority, within the stipulated time,* and in accordance with the provisions set up by the National Association under whose jurisdiction the match was played. Reports will be deemed to be made when received in the ordinary course of post.

(e) Allow no person other than the players and Linesmen to enter the field of play without his permission.

* In England, within two days. Sundays not included.

(f) Stop the game if, in his opinion, a player has been seriously injured; have the player removed as soon as possible from the field of play, and immediately resume the game. If a player is slightly injured, the game shall not be stopped until the ball has ceased to be in play. A player who is able to go to the touch- or goal-line for attention of any kind, shall not be treated on the field of play.

(g) Send off the field of play any player who, in his opinion, is guilty of violent conduct, serious foul play, or the use of foul and abusive language.

(h) Signal for recommencement of the game after all stoppages.

(i) Decide that the ball provided for a match meets with the requirements of Law 2.

LINESMEN

Two linesmen shall be appointed, whose duty (subject to the decision of the Referee) shall be to indicate when the ball is out of play and which side is entitled to the corner-kick, goal-kick, or throw-in. They shall also assist the Referee to control the game in accordance with the Laws. In the event of undue interference or improper conduct by a Linesman, the Referee shall dispense with his services and arrange for a substitute to be appointed. (The matter shall be reported by the Referee to the competent authority.) The Linesmen should be equipped with flags by the Club on whose ground the match is played.

LAW 7

DURATION OF THE GAME

The duration of the game shall be two equal periods of 45 minutes, unless otherwise mutually agreed upon, subject to the following:

(a) Allowance shall be made in either period for all time lost through accident or other cause, the amount of which shall be a matter for the discretion of the Referee.

(b) Time shall be extended to permit of a penalty-kick being taken at or after the expiration of the normal period in either half.

At half-time the interval shall not exceed five minutes except by consent of the Referee.

LAW 8

THE START OF PLAY

(a) At the beginning of the game, choice of ends and the kick-off shall be decided by the toss of a coin. The team winning the toss shall have the option of choice of ends or the kick-off.

The Referee, having given a signal, the game shall be started by a player taking a place-kick (i.e., a kick at the ball while it is stationary on the ground in the centre of the field of play) into his opponents' half of the field of play. Every player shall be in his own half of the field and every player of the team opposing that of the kicker shall remain not less than 10 yards from the ball until it is kicked-off; it shall not be deemed in play until it has travelled the distance of its own circumference. The kicker shall not play the ball a second time until it has been touched or played by another player.

(b) After a goal has been scored, the game shall be restarted in like manner by a player of the team losing the goal.

(c) After half-time; when restarting after half-time, ends shall be changed and the kick-off shall be taken by a player of the opposite team to that of the player who started the game.

Punishment. For any infringement of this Law, the kick-off shall be retaken, except in the case of the kicker playing the ball again before it has been touched or played by another player; for this offence, an indirect free-kick shall be taken by a player of the opposing team from the place where the infringement occurred. A goal shall not be scored direct from a kick-off.

(d) After any other temporary suspension; when restarting the game after a temporary suspension of play from any cause not mentioned elsewhere in these Laws, provided that immediately prior to the suspension the ball has not passed over the touch- or goal-lines, the Referee shall drop the ball at the place where it was when play was suspended and it shall be deemed in play when it has touched the ground; if, however, it goes over the touch- or goal-lines after it has been dropped by the Referee, but before it is touched by a player, the Referee shall again drop it. A player shall not play the ball until it has touched the ground. If this section of the Law is not complied with the Referee shall again drop the ball.

LAW 9

BALL IN AND OUT OF PLAY

The ball is out of play:

(a) When it has wholly crossed the goal-line or touch-line, whether on the ground or in the air.

(b) When the game has been stopped by the Referee.

The ball is in play at all other times from the start of the match to the finish including:

(a) If it rebounds from a goal-post, cross-bar or corner-flag post into the field of play.

(b) If it rebounds off either the Referee or Linesmen when they are in the field of play.

(c) In the event of a supposed infringement of the Laws, until a decision is given.

LAW 10

METHOD OF SCORING

Except as otherwise provided by these Laws, a goal is scored when the whole of the ball has passed over the goal-line, between the goal-posts and under the cross-bar, provided it has not been thrown, carried or propelled by hand or arm, by a player of the attacking side, except in the case of a goalkeeper, who is within his own penalty-area.

The team scoring the greater number of goals during a game shall be the winner; if no goals, or any equal number of goals are scored, the game shall be termed a 'draw'.

LAW 11

OFF-SIDE

A player is off-side if he is nearer his opponents' goal-line than the ball at the moment the ball is played unless:

(a) He is in his own half of the field of play.

(b) There are two of his opponents nearer to their own goal-line than he is.

(c) The ball last touched an opponent or was last played by him.

(d) He receives the ball direct from a goal-kick, a corner-kick, a throw-in, or when it was dropped by the Referee.

Punishment. For an infringement of this Law, an indirect free-kick shall be taken by a player of the opposing team from the place where the infringement occurred.

A player in an off-side position shall not be penalised unless, in the opinion of the Referee, he is interfering with the play or with an opponent, or is seeking to gain an advantage by being in an off-side position.

LAW 12

FOULS AND MISCONDUCT

A player who intentionally commits any of the following nine offences:

(a) Kicks or attempts to kick an opponent:

(b) Trips an opponent, i.e., throwing or attempting to throw him by the use of the legs or by stooping in front of or behind him;

(c) Jumps at an opponent;
(d) Charges an opponent in a violent or dangerous manner;
(e) Charges an opponent from behind unless the latter be obstructing;
(f) Strikes or attempts to strike an opponent;
(g) Holds an opponent with his hand or any part of his arm;
(h) Pushes an opponent with his hand or any part of his arm;
(i) Handles the ball, i.e., carries, strikes or propels the ball with his hand or arm. (This does not apply to the goalkeeper within his own penalty-area); shall be penalised by the award of a direct free-kick to be taken by the opposing side from the place where the offence occurred.

Should a player of the defending side intentionally commit one of the above nine offences within the penalty-area he shall be penalised by a penalty-kick.

A penalty-kick can be awarded irrespective of the position of the ball, if in play, at the time an offence within the penalty-area is committed.

A player committing any of the five following offences:

1. Playing in a manner considered by the Referee to be dangerous, e.g., attempting to kick the ball while held by the goalkeeper;
2. Charging fairly, i.e., with the shoulder, when the ball is not within playing distance of the players concerned and they are definitely not trying to play it;
3. When not playing the ball, intentionally obstructing an opponent, i.e., running between the opponent and the ball, or interposing the body so as to form an obstacle to an opponent;
4. Charging the goalkeeper except when he
   (a) is holding the ball;
   (b) is obstructing an opponent;
   (c) has passed outside his goal-area;
5. When playing as goalkeeper
   (a) takes more than 4 steps whilst holding, bouncing or throwing the ball in the air and catching it again without releasing it so that it is played by another player, or
   (b) indulges in tactics which, in the opinion of the Referee, are designed merely to hold up the game and thus waste time and so give an unfair advantage to his own team shall be penalised by the award of an indirect free-kick to be taken by the opposing side from the place where the infringement occurred.

A player shall be cautioned if:

(j) he enters or re-enters the field of play to join or re-join his team after the game has commenced, or leaves the field of play during the progress of the game (except through accident) without, in either case, first having received a signal from the Referee showing him that he may do so. If the Referee stops the game to administer the caution the game shall be restarted by an indirect free-kick taken by a player of the opposing team from the place where the offending player was when the Referee stopped the game. If, however, the offending player has committed a more serious offence he shall be penalised according to that section of the law he infringed.
(k) He persistently infringes the Laws of the Game;
(l) he shows by word or action, dissent from any decision given by the Referee;
(m)he is guilty of ungentlemanly conduct.

For any of these last three offences, in addition to the caution, an indirect free-kick shall also be awarded to the opposing side from the place where the offence occurred, unless a more serious infringement of the Laws of the Game was committed.

A player shall be sent off the field of play if:

(n) in the opinion of the Referee, he is guilty of violent conduct or serious foul play;
(o) he uses foul or abusive language;
(p) he persists in misconduct after having received a caution.

If play be stopped by reason of a player being ordered from the field for an offence without a separate breach of the Law having been committed, the game shall be resumed by an indirect free-kick awarded to the opposing side from the place where the infringement occurred.

LAW 13

FREE-KICK

Free-kicks shall be classified under two heads: 'Direct' (from which a goal can be scored direct against the offending side), and 'Indirect' (from which a goal cannot be scored unless the ball has been played or touched by a player other than the kicker before passing through the goal).

When a player is taking a direct or an indirect free-kick inside his own penalty-area, all of the opposing players shall remain outside the area, and shall be at least ten yards from the ball whilst the kick is being taken. The ball shall be in play immediately it has travelled the distance of its own circumference and is beyond the penalty-area. The goalkeeper shall not receive the ball into his hands, in order that he may thereafter kick it into play. If the ball is not kicked direct into play, beyond the penalty-area, the kick shall be retaken.

When a player is taking a direct or an indirect free-kick outside his own penalty-area, all of the opposing players shall be at least ten yards from the ball, until it is in play, unless they are standing on their own goal-line, between the goal-posts. The ball shall be in play when it has travelled the distance of its own circumference.

If a player of the opposing side encroaches into the penalty-area, or within ten yards of the ball, as the case may be, before a free-kick is taken, the Referee shall delay the taking of the kick, until the Law is complied with.

The ball must be stationary when a free-kick is taken, and the kicker shall not play the ball a second time, until it has been touched or played by another player.

Punishment. If the kicker after taking the free-kick plays the ball a second time before it has been touched or played by another player an indirect free-kick shall be taken by a player of the opposing team from the spot where the infringement occurred.

PENALTY-KICK

A penalty-kick shall be taken from the penalty-mark and, when it is being taken, all players with the exception of the player taking the kick, and the opposing goalkeeper, shall be within the field of play but outside the penalty-area, and at least 10 yards from the penalty-mark. The opposing goalkeeper must stand (without moving his feet) on his own goal-line, between the goal-posts, until the ball is kicked. The player taking the kick must kick the ball forward; he shall not play the ball a second time until it has been touched or played by another player. The ball shall be deemed in play directly it is kicked, i.e., travelled the distance of its circumference, and a goal may be scored direct from such a penalty-kick. If the ball touches the goalkeeper before passing between the posts, when a penalty-kick is being taken at or after the expiration of half-time or full-time, it does not nullify a goal. If necessary, time of play shall be extended at half-time or full-time to allow a penalty-kick to be taken.

Punishment. For any infringement of this Law:

(a) by the defending team, the kick shall be retaken if a goal has not resulted;
(b) by the attacking team, other than by the player taking the kick, if a goal is scored it shall be disallowed and the kick retaken.
(c) by the player taking the penalty-kick, committed after the ball is in play, a player of the opposing team shall take an indirect free-kick from the spot where the infringement occurred.

LAW 15

THROW-IN

When the whole of the ball passes over a touch-line, either on the ground or in the air, it shall be thrown in from the point where it crossed the line, in any direction, by a player of the team opposite to that of the player who last touched it. The thrower at the moment of delivering the ball must face the field of play and part of each foot shall be either on the touch-line or on the ground outside the touch-line. The thrower shall use both hands and shall deliver the ball from behind and over his head. The ball shall be in play immediately it enters the field of play, but the thrower shall not again play the ball until it has been touched or played by another player. A goal shall not be scored direct from a throw-in.

Punishment:

(a) If the ball is improperly thrown in the throw-in shall be taken by a player of the opposing team.

(b) If the thrower plays the ball a second time before it has been touched or played by another player, an indirect free-kick shall be taken by a player of the opposing team from the place where the infringement occurred.

LAW 16

GOAL-KICK

When the whole of the ball passes over the goal-line excluding that portion between the goal-posts, either in the air or on the ground, having last been played by one of the attacking team, it shall be kicked direct into play beyond the penalty-area from a point within that half of the goal-area nearest to where it crossed the line, by a player of the defending team. A goalkeeper shall not receive the ball into his hands from a goal-kick in order that he may thereafter kick it into play. If the ball is not kicked beyond the penalty-area, i.e., direct into play, the kick shall be retaken. The kicker shall not play the ball, a second time until it has touched or been played by another player. A goal shall not be scored direct from such a kick. Players of the team opposing that of the player taking the goal-kick shall remain outside the penalty-area whilst the kick is being taken.

Punishment. If a player taking a goal-kick plays the ball a second time after it has passed beyond the penalty-area, but before it has touched or been played by another player, an indirect free-kick shall be awarded to the opposing team, to be taken from the place where the infringement occurred.

CORNER-KICK

When the whole of the ball passes over the goal-line, excluding that portion between the goal-posts, either in the air or on the ground, having last been played by one of the defending team, a member of the attacking team shall kick the ball from within the quarter circle at the nearest corner flag-post, which must not be moved, i.e., a corner-kick. A goal may be scored direct from such a kick. Players of the team opposing that of the player taking the corner-kick shall not approach within 10 yards of the ball until it is in play, i.e., it has travelled the distance of its own circumference, nor shall the kicker play the ball a second time until it has been touched or played by another player.

Punishment. For an infringement of this Law, an indirect free-kick shall be awarded to the opposing team, to be taken from the place where the infringement occurred.

Coaching and Coaches

Football coaching in England is governed by the Football Association. Its structure consists of the administrative and the executive made up, firstly, of an instruction committee. Then there is the director of coaching, who has the help of the assistant director of coaching and the four regional coaches for the areas of the North, North West, the Midlands, and London and the South. In addition the administration of financial and other resources is delegated in many instances to the County Football Associations' Coaching Committees, each of whom has its own secretary, while the armed forces are also represented.

Further assistance is derived from the ranks of the F.A. staff coaches (appointed as such for outstanding work) while general interest, and feeder contributory and refresher work are carried out in the coaching associations that exist throughout the length and breadth of the country.

The present coaching staff are the Director of Coaching, Alan Wade, and the Assistant Director of Coaching, Charles Hughes, whose address is the Football Association, 16 Lancaster Gate, London, W.2. The North Regional Coach is John Adams, 3rd Floor, 22 High Street, Sheffield, S1 2GE, Yorkshire; the North West Regional Coach is Terry Casey, 31a Wellington Street (St Johns), Blackburn, Lancashire, BB1 8AU; the Midlands Regional Coach is John Jarman, 25 Gresham Chambers, 14 Lichfield Street, Wolverhampton, WV1 1DG; and the Regional Coach for London and the South is Keith Blunt, Clarence Chambers, Fairfield West, Kingston-upon-Thames, Surrey, KT2 6QH. Further details of coaching, coaching courses, or awards mentioned above or below can be obtained direct from the F.A. at the Lancaster Gate headquarters or from the Regional Coaches at their above-named offices.

The main stages in achieving the highest ranks in coaching are through, firstly, the preliminary coaching certificate and, subsequently, the final qualifying award. Recently the F.A. have introduced a 'teaching certificate' which is intended primarily for those persons, male and female, who are committed to the teaching of the game but who do not have the practical experience or ability, or have simply not availed themselves of the opportunity of attending or trying to obtain the preliminary coaching certificate. The courses are set out to assist the teacher to deal as effectively as possible with situations faced during school or youth games lessons. The course is intended to last for eight sessions of between one and a half and two hours, and the candidates should be qualified teachers or those intending to enter the teaching profession. At the end of the course, at the discretion of the F.A., the candidate may receive a teaching certificate from the F.A. The courses are not examinable and should not be considered as part of the F.A. Coaching Award Scheme or intended as leading up to qualification in that scheme at any level.

The preliminary coaching certificate, consists of an examination containing various tests. Some courses are organised on a residential-based weekend, on a six to seven day period, or on separate evening sessions with a final weekend session – the intended minimum sessions amounting to 12 or their equivalent. The examination consists of four parts: (a) a practical coaching test, considered to be the most important aspect of the examination. Failure necessitates the retaking of the whole examination; (b) a two hour written examination on the theory of coaching; (c) a one-hour written paper on the Laws of the Game; (d) a practical performance test to show ability to demonstrate techniques and skills in subjects being dealt with. Failure in (b), (c), or (d) allows a separate retake in that subject rather than the whole examination. The courses tend to deal with principles of attack and defence, passing, ball control, tackling, shooting, heading, goal-keeping, restarts, elementary tactics, and the techniques of coaching and organisation.

The full or final qualifying award is rather more complicated. It requires a two-week residential course and is for those already holding the Preliminary Certificate. The subjects dealt with are, inter alia, analysis and teaching of techniques, functional training and principles of play including attack, defence, systems of play, restarts and small-sided games.

The examinations consist of practical coaching tests and a two-hour written paper on the theory of coaching. Those on the course have opportunities of attending tutorials and films and of conducting their own practical coaching sessions. Most days start at 9.15 a.m. approximately and end at 7.00 p.m., although, where films or tutorials are involved, the work programme often carries over to 9.15 p.m. approximately.

SPORTS WRITER CATEGORY

John Morgan, Sports Editor of the Daily Express, was chosen as Sports Writer of 1972, and the news was flashed to him just as he was preparing to tee off in the U.S. Golf Writers' Championships at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. 'I think the round that followed astonished my American playing partners nearly as much as the news from England had astonished me,' says Morgan.

He was born at Southend-on-Sea, Essex, is married, and has one son and one daughter. He had what he describes as 'a vague sort of education, having fluked my way through a scholarship' at Chelmsford and at the age of 16 upped his age two years and volunteered for the RAF. He was demobbed at the end of the war aged 21 and took his first job in journalism as a £3.50-a-week reporter (plus what was then called half a crown bicycle allowance) on the Laindon Recorder. Four years later he was transferred to Southend to edit the now defunct Southend Times.

The highlight of those early days was the preparation of a paper for the then Minister of Town and Country Planning, the Rt Hon Lewis (later Lord) Silkin, on 'The proper way to condition residents for the designation of a New Town'. It was accepted and, says Morgan, 'Following its implementation came a succession of the most unholy rows between the residents of places like Basildon and Stevenage with the ministry.'

From Southend, Morgan moved to the Sheffield Star and after two years there returned to London where Arthur Christiansen took him from editor of the Walthamstow Post to the Daily Express sports desk. He was appointed Sports Editor in 1961, following Bob Findlay, whom Morgan describes as 'my tutor and a very good friend'. It was never his intention to specialise in sport. 'I just wanted to be a damned good journalist. But if I had known at the beginning of my career what I know now I would have dived straight in.'

He lists his likes as: Chatting up people (preferably 'them'); Essex cricket; Arsenal and the Orient; Oxford boat race crews; Lester Piggott, Tony Jacklin, Jackie Stewart, and Raquel Welch; Brigadier Gerard, Peter Storey, Keith Fletcher, Neil Diamond, and Princess Anne; Evonne Goolagong, Virginia Wade, Barry John, Perry Como, and Alistair Cooke; all Westerns, the Proms, Sir Matt Busby, all Irishmen, some Scots, the sayings of his grandmother, and champagne.

He dislikes: going to bed alone; listening to, or reading about, people talking about themselves.

WIN A FORTUNE WITH THE ROTHMANS PLAN

The ROTHMANS PLAN, which was first introduced for the start of the 1972-73 season, is valid again for the 1973-74 season and it offers you the best possible chance of winning a fantastic £500,000-plus fortune on the treble chance pool.

The plan has all the qualities necessary to line up those elusive Xs because it carries a guarantee that leaves very little to chance.

All members of the Pool Promoters Association, namely Littlewoods, Vernons, Copes, Empire, and Zetters, will accept the ROTHMANS PLAN as a single-line entry.

It covers twelve selections for the 8-match treble chance in only 136 lines, compared with 495 lines required for the full perm of any 8 from 12. At two lines a penny it costs only 68p, as against £2·47½ for full cover.

Yet the guarantees for the ROTHMANS PLAN are almost equal to that of the full perm. There are two basic guarantees, which are:

(1) If any seven of the twelve selections result as score-draws ALL SEVEN will fall together in one line.

(2) If any nine of the twelve selections result as score-draws EIGHT will fall together in one line.

So if you include seven or more score-draws in your selections you must win. With seven score-draws you will win either a second, third or fourth dividend, depending on the result of the other match in your best line, and with nine score-draws in the selections you must win a top dividend.

The method of entry is simple. All you have to do is select ANY twelve matches on the coupon mark X against each one, then write these instructions alongside:

Rothmans Plan – 136 cols. @ ½p = 68p.

That's all you have to do, and you can see how it should appear on the coupon in Diagram 1 which is designed for Littlewoods 2-line-a-penny treble chance pool.

All 136 lines covered in the system are set out in the checking chart, shown on page 1002, and the results of your twelve selections must be checked against this chart. Simply mark the results of the matches covered against Nos. 1 to 12 in all sections of the chart, then count up the number of points scored by the eight Xs in each line.

Remember to count 3 points for a score-draw, 2 for a goal-less game, 1½ for an away win or void match and 1 point for a home win.

On coupons that allow lower stakes the ROTHMANS PLAN will give excellent cover if used in multiple form. Diagram 2 shows an example of an entry suitable for Vernons where the minimum stake is 8 lines a penny.

Eighteen selections are covered in this entry and they are divided into three groups of six matches. The ROTHMANS PLAN is then applied to any two of the three groups, like this: groups 1 and 2; groups 1 and 3; groups 2 and 3.

With three separate combinations, the multiple entry amounts to 136 × 3 = 408 lines, costing 51p at 8 lines a penny.

The guarantee will apply to the twelve matches covered by any two groups in this entry and the groups must be taken two at a time and checked against the check chart.

First, mark the results of the first group against Nos. 1 to 6 in the chart and the results of the second group against Nos. 7 to 12. Each complete line in the chart must then be checked separately. Next, repeat the procedure with groups 1 and 3 and groups 2 and 3.

That will give you a complete check of the multiple entry, but remember that it is necessary to check only the combinations of two groups which contain enough draws for a dividend.

On coupons that allow stakes for 16 and 20 lines a penny it is possible to cover 24 selections with the 6-in-1 entry shown in Diagram 3.

The 24 matches are divided into four groups of six and the ROTHMANS PLAN is applied to any two groups. This makes a total entry of 136 × 6 = 816 lines, costing 51p at 16 lines a penny and 40½ at 20 a penny. Be sure to use the correct stakes according to the limit on your coupon.

Again, the results of any two groups of six matches must be checked against the check chart. The six combinations involved are: groups 1 and 2; groups 1 and 3; groups 1 and 4; groups 2 and 3; groups 2 and 4; groups 3 and 4.

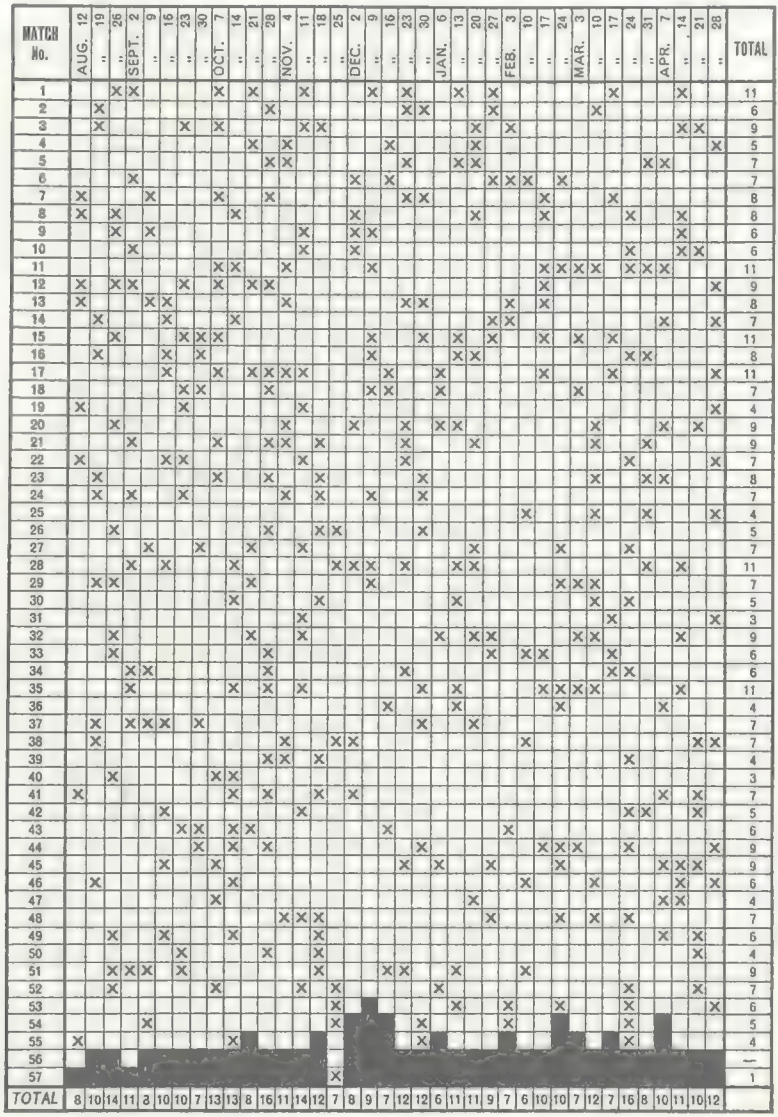
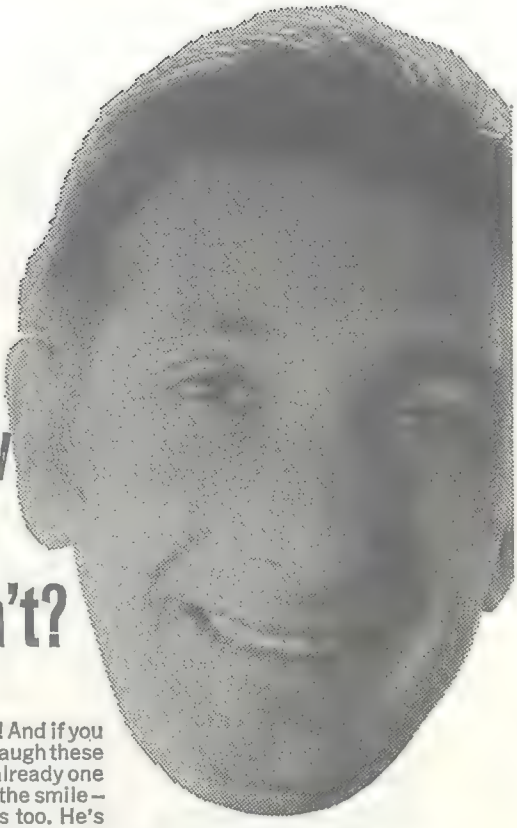
SCORE-DRAW CHART 1972-73

This chart shows where the score-draws fell on Littlewoods coupon during the 1972-73 season



What's Stan McAndrew got that you haven't?



A big smile for one thing! And if you find it difficult to raise a laugh these days, Stan McAndrew is already one up on you. He can afford the smile – and a lot of other things too. He's the lucky fellow who, only a few months ago, won £231,000 on Vernons Pools. So he's got a sizeable piece of money in the bank, which (we dare say), puts him two up on you.

An ordinary sort of chap, in an ordinary job, Stan McAndrew had probably, often enough, said to himself, "It can't happen to me."

And yet he persisted and wisely chose the pool which he believed gave him the best chance of all to win a fortune in the hundred thousands. His winning stake of 66p on Vernons bought him 528 lines. Elsewhere, for the kind of money he won, it would have bought him a lot less in winning chances. "If Vernons give me 8 chances for every penny of my stake," he says, "why should I settle for less?"

Stan McAndrew's great win is, of course, only one of many which have made 1972/73 outstanding years for clients of Vernons. Week after week more and more pools fans switch to Vernons as they recognise the truth that 8 goes a penny to win a fortune of up to £½ million really does add up to the best bet in pools.

"Why settle for less than 8 goes a penny?" It's a question you might well ask yourself if you do the pools – or even if you don't! And when you've come up with the right answer you could be on your way to catching up with Stan McAndrew!

For coupons or to contact your local clients' collector, write to Vernons Pools, Liverpool.

Previous Editions of Rothmans Football Yearbook

This is the fourth edition of the Rothmans Football Yearbook. Due to a limitation on space and the need to revise and broaden the scope of the work, some items that appeared in previous years have been omitted. For example, the second and third editions carried diagrams of all 92 Football League stadiums, naming the surrounding roads, showing the position of turnstiles, terraces, covered stands, and giving the measurements of the pitch. In this edition we have stated the size of each pitch, and have used the space saved by the omission of these diagrams to give you more information about the clubs, including car parking, entertainments, catering facilities, and ticket application procedures. On the following page are more details of items which have appeared in the past, and in order to complete your record of football facts and figures, you can obtain copies of the editions mentioned by writing to:
